NO. 25—EIGHTY-SIXTH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1944 | FOURTEEN PAGES

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1944, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Jan. 10.—In his first cabled dispatch from the Eighth Army front, The Times' military correspondent, who is visiting the Italian battlefields, says there is no reason to imagine the Italian campaign is deadened.

Describing his visit to Ortona he says the ground there is about the worst of all the Adriatic coast from heel to the front line. The bed of the Sangro River is a veritable abyss. The Moro River is rather a lesser obstacle, but though the stream itself is inconsiderable, the cleft must be nearly half a mile wide in places with very steep sides.

But the Moro itself didn't equal the succeeding ravine on the far slope where lay the notorious crossroads where the first stage of the fight for Ortona raged.

The scene is now one of few on this front, recalling a battlefield of the first Great War. The ground has been scarred and every tree blasted. There is complete desolation from here to Ortona and beyond, though looking inland the country seems little damaged.

Canadians might have been held up even longer but they found a hole in the enemy's right flank and pushed in, gradually levering from his hold one of the crossroads. They thought the worst was over but found Ortona stiffer still.

Here again the damage is sensational. "It isn't as bad as towns in the last war, that were long fought for, but it is about as bad as ever I saw done." The Times correspondent says.

These Canadians, after all their experience, are now the finest forged offensive weapon. Since major operations ceased, they have been doing brilliant local action and night patrolling with ascendancy over parachute divisions opposite.

One officer prisoner said he couldn't think why Germany was losing the war. He had one last request before he went into captivity, to see the British automatic ten-centimetre gun. This, of course, is the 25-pounder which is not even rapid-firing, but the concentration on the gully below the crossroads and on Ortona was so terrific he thought they must be automatic.

No quick results are looked for at this season, the correspondent says, but he is convinced when the sun gets warmer the Allies with their superiority in numbers, artillery, tanks and with complete domination of air, will be able to go on at a reasonable pace.

General Koniev's brilliant achievement at Kirovograd has created a situation between the German bases at Krivoi Rog and Novo Ukranka, strikingly similar to that which faced Nazi General Mannstein when Vatutin's forces began to thrust southward between Berdichev and Byelaya Tserkov, says The Times Moscow correspondent. Germans, who are reported rushing every available man for defence of the Zhemerinka region against Vatutin's advancing armies are now called on to resist new thrusts, the menace of which is no less grave.

As in the Kieve salient, Germans at Kirovograd were soundly beaten by an opponent more skilful in the use of arms, more audacious in attack, staunchet in defence, and better commanded. The enemy is reported to have been so badly shaken by the barrage that they were unable to use their artillery against Russian infantry.

In a special article on Canada and the Commonwealth, The Times' Ottawa correspondent puts the Canadian case for the maintenance of the existing flexible but nonetheless strong ties among the British family of nations.

Like other Commonwealth countries, Canada has special considerations to take into account in the international policy. Chief among these is Canada's relationship with United States. In developing her ties with United States, Canada has done nothing to weaken her links with the Commonwealth.

Her role as a link between Britain and United States has indeed helped in forging former bonds stronger than ever before existed in the history of the three countries.

Thus, in approaching problems of Commonwealth organization Canadians have to consider their position vis-a-vis countries other than those in the Commonwealth. In fact the Commonwealth is stronger now with its loose flexible ties of sentiment and common ideals than it would be through a medium of fixed agreements and rigid politics.

MONTREAL, Jan. 10 (CP).—Dr. Leo Pariseau, 61, well-known radiologist, died here today. One of the first X-ray specialists in Canada, he wrote a number of books and magazine articles on medical topics.

Crack Nazi Troops Sag Toward Cassino Before Fifth Army's Onslaught

Clark's Men Throw in Tanks; Cut Through Two Miles Deep

ALGIERS, Jan. 10 (AP).—Elements of two crack Nazi divisions sagged back towards Cassino today under the furious onslaught of Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army, which burst through German defences to a depth of two more miles and threw tanks into action on the plain in front of the German stronghold, 70 miles from Rome.

The extent to which British and American armor could participate in the final assault on Cassino depended on how strongly German artillery was emplaced on heights on both sides of the Rome road, which runs along the Cassino Plain.

The 29th Panzer Division, which, with units of the Hermann Goering Division, was defending Cassino against the Fifth Army offensive, was taking a heavy mauling Clark's advance units were nearly halfway through the six-mile zone of fortifications between the village of San Vittore and Cassino.

Freezing weather caused great discomfort to the infantry, but the hardened ground was welcomed by Allied armored divisions, which have seen little action since the Italian rainy season began a short time after Naples was captured.

As matters stood today—six days after the start of the new drive on Rome—American infantry fighting from peak to peak east of Cassino had reached a point where it could look down into the streets of that key communications centre. Both infantry and tanks were driving in on the bastion from the front.

American troops battered through strong opposition to seize the 3,500-foot peak of Catena Vecchio and 1,560-foot Mount Chiala, north of the highway into Cassino. South of the highway they captured 900-foot Mount Porchia. Units which won Mount Chiala continued their advance northward toward the village of Cervaro, some four miles east of Cassino. They were strongly supported by Allied fighter-bombers.

BRITISH CLING TO BRIDGEHEAD

Near the western end of the ten-mile offensive front, British troops cling to a bridgehead they had established across the Peccia River west of Mount Maggiore. German artillery gave this force a hard plastering. Field dispatches indicated the British soldiers had worked their way around south of Cassino.

Deep snows restricted fighting in mountainous sectors of the Eighth Army front to patrol activity and artillery exchanges.

American heavy bombers operating from great new bases in Southern Italy maintained their crushing attack on enemy communications in the Balkans with another assault today on rail yards in Sofia Bulgaria, a hub for Nazi rail communications between Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria.

Yesterday the Italy-based bombers smashed at the German-controlled naval base of Pola, at the tip of the Istrian Peninsula which juts into the top of the Adriatic sea. Two formations of medium bombers attacked the port of Ancona on Italy's east coast, doing great damage to harbor installations and warehouses. The Allies and Germans each lost one plane in Sunday's operations.

Bombers Use Italian Bases

AT A UNITED STATES BOMBER BASE IN ITALY, Jan. 10 (AP).—United States heavy bombers have been tearing at Axis strongholds in Europe and the Balkans from new bases in Italy for weeks, it may now be disclosed.

The stage has been set for shuttle attacks on Hitler's fortress from both Britain and Italy.

Movement of the heavy bombers from Africa to Italy was a natural consequence of the invasion of Italy but arrival of the bombers here was not announced earlier for security reasons.

Soviets Want 1919 Line as Border Basis

Moscow Comments on Statement of Poland

LONDON, Jan. 10 (CP).—The Moscow radio, indicating Russia's intention to retain the bulk of the territory she obtained in the 1939 patrition of Poland, declared tonight that the approaching restoration of Poland must be accomplished by return of land taken by the Germans and not by Polish "seizing" of Ukraine or White Russian areas.

This was the first official Soviet statement on the Polish-Russian border dispute, which has grown urgent since the Red Army advance across the Polish frontier last week.

"The Soviet-Polish border could pass approximately along the so-called Curzon Line, which was accepted in 1919 by the Supreme Council of the Allied Powers and which provided for inclusion of the Western Ukraine and Western Byelo-Russia (White Russia) in the structure of the Soviet Union," it said.

The Curzon Line, named for the late British Foreign Secretary, roughly followed the Bug River and a line between Grodno and Brest-Litovsk as Poland's eastern boundary. It was not accepted by the Poles, who then were at war with the Bolshevists, and the border eventually was drawn up to 160 miles eastward by the Treaty of Riga in 1921. That border existed until the Germans and Russians divided Poland between them in September, 1939.

PARTITION FOLLOWED THE BUG RIVER

This partitioning followed the Bug River beyond Brest-Litovsk on its swing northwestward toward East Prussia.

The Moscow radio said "Poland's eastern borders could be established by agreement with the Soviet Union. The Soviet Government does not regard 1939 borders as unchangeable." It suggested Poland could be reconstituted with territory now part of Germany, saying this would give the Poles an outlet to the Baltic Sea.

In drawing the new borders of Poland, the radio said, "Corrections can be included to the advantage of Poland in that direction (in the west) in order that districts in which there is overwhelming Polish population be handed over to Poland."

This apparently referred to the East Prussian area.

The statement concluded with strong criticism of the Polish Government in London, which, it said, "cut off from its people, has shown itself incapable of establishing friendly relations with the Soviet Union."

Bomb Enemy's Bases, Barges

Planes Roam Skies Over Wide Areas

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 11 (Tuesday) (AP).—Allied air squadrons roamed the skies from the Celebes far north of Australia to the Solomons to deliver heavy bomb loads on Japanese bases and barge supply routes, the High Command announced today.

Biggest smash was made in the Madang supply and airbase area on the northeast coast of New Guinea, where a total of 168 tons of explosives were laid on Madang itself, the protecting airdrome at Alexishafen and Bogadjim, Madang's main southern defence outpost.

United States heavy bombers soared 750 miles northwest of Darwin, Australia, to drop 25 tons on the important enemy base at Kendari on the east coast of Celebes Island. The unescorted bombers met heavy anti-aircraft fire and downed six and probably four more of 13 intercepting Zeros, which waged a 35-minute running battle with the raiders. One United States bomber was lost.

The Kendari airfield, completed by The Netherlands just before start of the war, now is the Japanese air force home base on Celebes Island.

There was little change in the ground situation at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, where United States marine patrols were operating extensively south of the airdrome.

Other marine units resumed their advance south of Silimati Point near the Borgen Bay area of the Cape Gloucester invasion holding, and met resistance Sunday morning, a headquarters spokesman said.

Would Hang 10,000 Prussians

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (Tuesday) (AP).—The New York Mirror today quoted James W. Gerard, former United States Ambassador to Germany, as saying that his 50-year study of the German people convinces him the Allies' postwar reorganization should begin with hanging the 10,000 most guilty Prussians responsible for the Nazis' crimes against civilization.

The newspaper said Gerard declared yesterday: "But remember, this wholesale extermination of blen-rackling Junkers would be only a temporary remedy. The German people are a hopeless problem. They must be constantly watched or they'll follow new leaders into another war."

Nazis Abandon Sarny as Red Army Drive Takes Heavy Toll Of Men, Machines, Supplies

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP).—The Red Army smashed to within 21 miles of the Warsaw-Odessa Railway today, slashed two lines feeding into that main German escape channel and killed 16,000 more enemy troops, Moscow announced tonight.

Berlin reports, via neutral Stockholm, said the Germans had evacuated Sarny, rail junction 35 miles inside Poland, in the path of the Soviet steamroller. Robno, another junction almost 50 miles to the southwest, was endangered by rapid Russian strides, said the Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter.

HERE are the latest phases of the terrific Russian drives to the West and South. As Cossacks of the first Ukrainian army advance rapidly into Poland near Olesk, the all-important "trap drive" from recently captured Belaya Tzerkov moves southward at the rate of 30 miles in a single day as Reds race to cut off all Nazis in the Ukraine and the Dnieper River Bend area.

Meanwhile the second Ukrainian army has started a new and powerful drive southward in the direction of Krivoi Rog, threatening the Nazis in this area. The new drive is indicated by the small arrow. The smash-through of the Red Army direct from Kiev to cut off the Odessa main line railroad supply route is also making powerful headway.

Other dispatches said the Russians had reached the Bug River, last natural German defence line in the Ukraine. Only a few miles beyond the Bug lies the Warsaw-Odessa railway, which the Russians hope to seize in an effort to doom upwards of 500,000 Germans in Southern Russia.

Guerrilla "ghost" armies" springing out of the snowy forests of Poland joined Gen. Nicolai F. Vatutin's First Ukraine Army regulars attacking westward on a 40-mile front in Poland.

The guerrillas, presumably all-Russian-organized units were said by Moscow to be wrecking German rail facilities near Odessa on the Black Sea and along the prewar Rumanian frontier, toward which Vatutin's forces are plunging.

LANDING ATTEMPT ON BLACK SEA

Berlin also reported that Russian amphibious forces had tried to land on the Black Sea coast at Ochakov, midway between Odessa and the Dnieper River mouth.

But the biggest days' slaughter of German troops occurred when Gen. Ivan S. Konev's troops cauht the remnants of an original enemy force of 30,000 or more men in a trap west and northwest of Kirovograd in the Dnieper Bend, said the Soviet communique.

Upon refusing to surrender, the enemy troops were wiped out almost to a man, 8,000 of them, the bulletin said.

Captured enemy tanks piled by Moscow was tremendous. Scores of tanks and big guns, hundreds of rifles and food and ammunition

Sofia Hit as Attack On Turkey Rumored

LONDON, Jan. 10 (CP).—Strong formations of American heavy bombers heaved explosives and fire upon the Bulgarian capital of Sofia today, amid reports that the German satellite is girding for an attack on Turkey and amid new signs of the growing importance of the Balkans as a war theatre.

Fate of Balkans Rests on Bulgaria

ISTANBUL, Jan. 10 (AP).—The Turkish newspaper Tan today predicted trouble for Germans in the Balkans and hinted that Turkey might play a role in the coming events.

"The Balkans are the weakest point of the fortress of Europe," said an editorial. "Therefore Turkey has become very important to Germany. Consequently the Germans were most pleased when Turkey announced after the Cairo Conference here that her foreign policy remained unchanged.

"Today, from one point of view, the fate of the Balkans depends upon the Bulgarians decision. If Bulgaria throws off the military and political pressure on her it will become very difficult for Germany to hold the Balkans."

Will Co-operate

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP).—Earl Browder, the American Communist leader, said tonight the Communists would co-operate with capitalist free enterprise system in the United States, and also abandon the practice of entering party candidates in elections.

The strong raid on the rail communications centre serving Yugoslavia, Roumania and Bulgaria was the fifth in two months and followed by only one day an American heavy bomber assault on Pola, Italian city and Adriatic naval base at the tip of the Istrian Peninsula which is a main supply port for Nazi forces in Yugoslavia.

Both raids were made from new Allied air bases in Italy.

Previous American raids on Sofia have been credited with creating much of the clamor for peace that has arisen from the Bulgarian population and the reported recent crises in the pro-German Cabinet.

The newest reports that Bulgaria is preparing to attack Turkey came from the Stockholm newspaper Social Demokraten, which said "Turkey is not expected to be able to remain neutral until the end of the Winter."

An attack on Turkey would indicate that the Nazis have successfully averted attempts by pro-Allied elements to overthrow the Government and have brought overwhelming pressure to bear for a "strong demonstration of German support."

These developments came also as Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) indicated that his Yugoslav Partisan armies were meeting stiffer opposition in their attempts to repel the German invader.

A broadcast announcement said the Nazis were employing infantry, tank and motorized units in their newest five-pronged drive to crush the Partisans, and that heavy fighting was raging in Western and Central Bosnia.

Indict Brewery Heir

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP).—Gert Hans Gontard, 37, brewery heir and cafe society figure, pleaded not guilty today after a Federal grand jury indicted him and four other men on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Selective Service Act. The trial date was set tentatively for February 3.

Von Gontard was identified by Assistant United States Attorney J. Gerard Cregan as a grandson of the late Adolphus Busch, founder of the Anheuser-Busch breweries in St. Louis and a former husband of Lucia Tonelle, German screen actress.

Indicted with him on the conspiracy charge were John Edward Wilson, 53, former chief clerk of a New York local draft board; Dr. Arnold Arron Hutschnecker, 45, a German refugee physician; Army Lieut. Francis X. Grottano, 33, a former New York City detective, and Michael Mangano, 43, secretary of the G-M Uniform Company.

Reduced Trade Treaty Signed

Nazis Agree to Lift Blockade for Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 10 (AP).—Sweden and Germany signed a trade treaty today providing for reduced exchanges of goods in 1944 and the Nazis agreed to lift their blockade on Swedish shipping to North and South America next September.

Sweden agreed to ship 7,000,000 tons of iron ore to the Nazis in 1944, almost 3,000,000 tons less than in 1943. Coal and coke imports from Germany will be cut correspondingly, since the trade is balanced equally.

Six Swedish ships were reported ready to sail for North and South American and six more were leaving foreign ports for Sweden with resumption of safe conduct suspended by the Germans last October.

The Nazis unsuccessfully demanded that Sweden give assurance that two Norwegian ships at Gothenburg would not be allowed to attempt to slip through the North Sea to England. They were the last of ten vessels caught in Sweden when the Germans completed occupation of Norway. They dashed for England in March, 1942. Two intercepted six were sunk and the other two reached Gothenburg.

Discuss Evacuation of Coast as Raids Continue

LONDON, Jan. 10 (CP).—R.A.F. bombers roared over the English Channel in moonlight tonight to resume the blasting of objectives on the continent.

Prefects of the French Channel coast departments were reported by the Vichy radio to have met in Paris to discuss "possible evacuation of the French Channel coast, particularly the areas now subjected to heavy air attacks."

"Evacuation of the country districts of the Somme already has been ordered," it was announced.

The Somme region is south and west of the Pas de Calais area, the so-called "rocket coast" which has been taking a terrific blasting from British and American planes.

Small formations of R.A.F. Typhoon and Mosquito bombers struck at the French coastal area again today, while Germany appeared to have received another 12-hour respite in the Allied heavy bomber offensive, which has been halted since Friday.

Today's forays were directed against military objectives with "good bombing results," it was announced. Four Allied fighter-bombers failed to return, but one Nazi JU-88 was shot down from the skies by a Typhoon fighter while patrolling over Belgium.

The last Allied heavy bomber operation was that of January 7, when United States planes struck at a Southwestern German target identified by the Nazis as Ludwigshafen, where poison gas components are manufactured.

Kaiser Answers Rep. Magnuson

Vessels Passed Four Inspections in U.S.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 10 (AP).—Edgar F. Kaiser, manager of the three Kaiser shipyards in this area, declared today that if Portland-built Liberty freighters have gone to sea with construction defects, inspections by four separate agencies failed to reveal them.

The son of Shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser made his first reply to charges that Liberties have split up at sea following an accusation by Rep. Warren G. Magnuson (Dem., Wash.) that the Portland-built Chief Washakie was launched with a putty-filled, paint-covered crack in her hull.

Kaiser said:

"There are four inspection organizations: (1) The shipbuilders, (2) the U.S. Maritime Commission, (3) the American Bureau of Shipbuilding, and (4) the U.S. Coast Guard (formerly the Bureau of Marine Navigation and Inspection). None of these inspections have disclosed at any time cracks in ships being commissioned into service at this yard, nor have we as builders been advised by the other three inspection services of any cracks at the time of commissioning into service . . ."

Loss to Salt Plant May Reach Millions

MARYSVILLE, Mich., Jan. 10 (AP).—Fire swept the plant of the Morton Salt Company here tonight, largest of the firm's five branches in the Middle West, causing damage which would amount to $3,500,000.

General Manager Fred Philbrick said the blaze, believed to have originated in a dry kiln, had swept through five of the six buildings comprising Morton's Marysville plant at 7:30 p.m., C.D.T., and that the sixth building was threatened.

He estimated that the loss in buildings, largely of old-type frame construction, would reach $2,500,000. Damage to equipment was estimated at another $1,000,000.

Lt.-Col. Taylor Dies

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP).—Lt.-Col. Plunket B. Taylor, 80, president and manager of Bradings Breweries Limited and second-in-command of the 77th Overseas Battalion in the first Great War, died at his home here tonight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10 (AP).—The Chronicle said tonight 200 Japanese-Americans at the Tule Lake, Calif., segregation camp have been engaged in a protest hunger strike for ten days.

The Chronicle said it learned the strikers were so-called leaders of a group of Japanese-Americans who wished to "negotiate" concessions with the camp administration. These 200, the paper said, have been confined to military barracks.

May Have Plan To End Strike

QUEBEC, Jan. 10 (CP).—Leaders of the 21-day strike of Montreal municipal white collar employees left Quebec tonight amid a general feeling that they had a definite proposal for ending the deadlock to submit to the workers at a mass meeting tomorrow night.

The strike leaders left after two days of conferences with the Provincial Government and the Quebec Municipal Commission.

While there was no official comment on the result of the meetings, it was learned that the strike leaders, although they had been given full powers to reach a settlement before they left Montreal, wished to present the proposal to the 2,000 workers involved before reaching a definite decision.

Berlin—City of Wreckage

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP).—So many German Government buildings—from Hitler's private chancellery on down—were destroyed or damaged in the first six R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. raids of the battle of Berlin, it is doubtful that the Nazi war administration could have been continuing from the capital even a month ago.

A list of destroyed or damaged places issued by the Air Ministry today on the basis of reconnaissance photographs up to December 21 includes, besides the Fuehrer's offices:

The home of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels; offices of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, headquarters of the Gestapo; official residences of Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, the Foreign Office, the Treasury, the Ministries of Justice, Transport, Food and Agriculture, Armaments and Munitions, Education, the Home Office and the Army Records Office.

In the central Tiergarten district, packed with Government offices, more than 60 per cent of the buildings were destroyed. In the midst of the Government centre district there were 628 acres of damage, an area nearly as large as the whole of Central London.

The total building-covered area in the built-up section of Berlin is reckoned by the Air Ministry at about 8,000 acres.

At least 17 per cent of the actual building area in the built-up section—an acreage more than half covered with buildings—was destroyed in the first six raids, the Air Ministry said.

That 17 per cent—which doesn't include a square foot of open space—is the rock-bottom minimum based on small-scaled photographs taken from around 30,000 feet.

More detailed pictures when the weather is clearer are expected to show much more damage.

In addition to the blows struck at official quarters, the Kroll Opera House, meeting place of the Reichstag since 1933, has been damaged by fire. Berlin's main interstate studios were hit and 200 workers' flats were destroyed.

Four gasworks, including the envx largest, were hit. Seven railroads, five trolley depots and the main postal depots were damaged. The Lehrte and Potsdamer railroad stations were gutted.

Ninety-eight identified industrial plants were bombed, including the great Rhein-Metall Borsih armament factory, which makes everything from tanks to torpedoes—one-third of the Alkett car assembly plant was gutted and the Siemens electrical plant blasted last Summer, was further destroyed.

The Dornier-Heinkel airplane parts plants and the Argus and B.M.W. airplane engine factories were hit.

All this damage was done in the rain of 9,000 tons of bombs up to December 16. Since that time four more raids have added 5,000 tons of bombs and destruction.

LONDON, Jan. 10 (CP).—The Nazis took cognizance tonight of reports that Franz von Papen, German Ambassador to Turkey, had been sending out peace feelers.

The agency, D.N.B., said in a broadcast:

"In Wilhelmstrasse circles all rumors about alleged peace actions of German Ambassador in Ankara Von Papen are to be relegated to the realm of the imagination."

Officials Alarmed as Butter Production in Canada Drops

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP).—The Canadian butter situation, which already has caused Prices Board authorities some concern, took a turn for the worse in December, a Bureau of Statistics report showed today.

Creamery butter production in December was 12,370,059 pounds, compared with 14,672,510 in the same month last year, a reduction of 15.7 per cent.

[illegible] has been rising, and Prices Board officials said a month ago they felt concern over maintaining the half-pound weekly butter ration per person during the Winter months of low production, in light of recent output and the condition of butter reserves.

They declined further comment on the situation when the December figures were made public today.

All provinces except Saskatchewan reported declines during December. The Saskatchewan gain was 1.8 per cent compared with 1942. A drop of 31.5 per cent was reported by Quebec, 17.1 by Ontario and 18.3 by Manitoba.

Cheddar cheese production in December increased to 5,016,923 pounds from 3,750,520 in December, 1942, up 33.8 per cent.

British Columbia's output was increased to 62,685 pounds from 51,294 or by 22.2 per cent.

December production of ice cream increased to 661,232 pounds from 609,546 pounds or by 8.5 per cent, with increases in all provinces except Manitoba and Alberta.

R.C.A.F. Announces Awards for Stations

Efficiency awards to be competed for four times a year by operational stations of Western Air Command were recently announced by the R.C.A.F.

Awards will be based on: Number of flying hours per aircraft, percentage of aircraft maintained, station cleanliness, proficiency in drill and physical fitness of personnel.

Non-operational units, it is hoped, will later be included in the competition, the R.C.A.F. announces.

Objectives of the competition are: To provide incentive for improvement of station efficiency, to give official recognition of the winning station's performance, and to give indications of any existing weaknesses.

Percentage of attendance of personnel at R.C.A.F. educational classes will also be taken into account.

Russian Front

stores fell to the advancing Russians. Scores of tanks also were destroyed in vicious fighting. Moscow's announcements indicated German counter-attacks were only spasmodic and on a diminishing scale along most of the active front.

The Germans clearly faced their worst disaster of the war, perhaps one surpassing the Stalingrad debacle.

The army under Konev was driving west and northwest to effect a junction with the southern arm of Vatutin's forces in an effort to trap a greater segment of Germany's Dnieper Bend troops in the Smela-Kanev sectors. The two armies were reported less than 70 miles apart.

CUT RAILWAY AT YAROVATKA

The troops under Vatutin cut the Smela - Khristinovka railway at Yarovatka, 80 miles southwest of Smela, the bulletin said. Another railway between Khristinovka and Vinnitsa was severed with the capture of Voronovitsa, 13 miles southeast of Vinnitsa.

The capture of Voronovitsa put the Russians within seven miles of the Bug River, last natural German defence line before the Dniester River, prewar frontier of Rumania, 60 miles beyond. Dispatches said Russian spearheads already had reached the Bug River, which is much less of a natural barrier to the Russians than the wide Dnieper, which they crossed last Fall.

Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, Berlin radio commentator, acknowledged that German troops, using a "flexible defence," were giving up territory to the onrushing Soviet forces "for the purpose of sparing German forces unnecessary exhaustion or of protecting them from being cut off."

German propagandists, in the usual language employed to explain reverses, continued to stress the numerical superiority of the Russians.

Jean Paquis, commentator on the Axis-controlled Paris radio, boosted his Sunday estimate of 2,000,000 attacking Russians to 3,000,000 in his latest broadcast. He said the Germans had only 700,000 men trying to hold them.

Among the 50 localities swept up by Konev in his westward push was Kamenka, 37 miles northwest of Kirovograd, and only 18 miles from Smela, the rail junction serving a big body of German troops now endangered with entrapment.

WOULD BLOCK FINAL ESCAPE

The southern arm of Konev's forces was within 25 or 30 miles of Novo Ukrainka in the push southwest of Kirovograd. Capture of that rail junction would cut off the final escape route for the Germans in the Smela sector.

Vatutin's army captured more than 66 places during the day.

Spreading into Poland they took Berezno, 22 miles southeast of Sarny and 25 miles inside Poland. They also seized Ludvipol, 15 miles southeast of Berezno, and 35 northeast of the important rail junction of Rovno (Rowne).

Berlin said Russian units already are operating west of Sarny, apparently in an encirclement of that junction, seizure of which would cut German north-south communications over a wide area.

To the southeast the Russians are converging on Shepetovka, another rail junction commanding the gateway into Southern Poland. They were within 20 miles of Shepetovka on the east, not much farther on the northeast, and were flanking the town in a drive to the southeast.

Lyubar, 38 miles west of Berdichev and 35 southeast of Shepetovka, was among the towns captured in a break-through toward Southern Poland.

Besides taking Voronovitsa, in the Vinnitsa area, the Russians also captured the district centre of Nemirov, representing a 13-mile gain from Zhornishohe. Nemirov is only five miles from the Bug River, which forms the eastern boundary of the Transnistra area awarded the Rumanians by the Germans after the invasion of Russia. It likewise is only 21 miles from the main prize in Southern Russia — the Warsaw-Odessa German escape route.

World More United

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP).—Princess Juliana of The Netherlands said tonight that "the world has become more united" and predicted that such unity will "bring mankind closer together" and will "enable those people who abhor war and its misery to become able and alert guardians of civilization." The Princess spoke at a dinner of the Netherland-American Foundation, where Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, acting for the foundation, presented her with a medal of recognition for "meritorious service in the field of Netherland-American friendship."

Professor Speaks of Poetry to Authors

Poetry should be read to bring order out of personal chaos, Professor W. Robbins, Victoria College, told members of the Victoria Branch, Canadian Authors' Association, Monday night at the Y.W.C.A.

He assessed the value of poetry according to three classifications that he made: Poetry that merely stirs the senses; poetry that provokes thought, and poetry that inspires. He illustrated his statements by quotations.

To read poetry without attempting to appreciate its complex imagery, he contended, is to become "pretentious fakirs in an anaemic culture." Rev. J. P. Hicks thanked the speaker.

Donald Fraser reviewed Alex Sutherland's collection of poems on stars, "Star Dust," and read a letter from Ted Malone, of the radio programme "Between the Book-Ends," stating that he planned to devote a programme soon to Canadian poetry.

Mrs. G. A. B. Hall, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Stilson, sang "Break o' Day" and "Sylvelin."

Capt. German, R.C.N., Takes Over Givenchy

Capt. Barry German, R.C.N., accompanied by his wife and their daughter, Gill, arrived here yesterday from Ottawa to take over command of H.M.C.S. Givenchy. He succeeds Capt. E. L. Armstrong, who leaves tonight for an east coast naval station.

Capt. German, who was last in Victoria on a visit before the war, commented that the city and its weather appeared "delightful" to him. Capt. and Mrs. German and their daughter are staying at the Empress Hotel until they make their home in Esquimalt.

Since August, 1942, Capt. German has been naval officer in charge at Gaspe, Que. His naval service extends from 1910, when he joined the R.C.N. as a cadet. Promoted sub-lieutenant in 1913, he saw service on H.M.S. Collingwood. During the first Great War he was with Naval Intelligence, Ottawa.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 10 (AP).—A German blockade runner was scuttled by her crew on January 3 while being chased by American and Brazilian navy and air forces and 145 crewmen have been made prisoners of war in a camp at a north-eastern base in Brazil, the newspaper O Globo reported today.

The newspaper said this was the same ship which an official announcement on Saturday stated was sunk by joint action of United States and Brazilian navy ships and planes while en route to Japan from Germany with contraband.

O Globo added the ship was destroyed somewhere between Ascension Island and the African coast and was the third blockade runner sunk while attempting to carry war supplies from Japan to Germany in recent months.

Lay-Off Notices

WINNIPEG, Jan. 10 (CP).—Gordon P. Wilkinson, Grand Lodge representative of the International Association of Machinists, said here tonight that lay-off notices had been given to 319 employees of Regina industries last Friday.

Mr. Wilkinson announced he would leave tomorrow for Regina to confer with machinists who will be affected by a termination of employment.

Marshalls Attacked

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 10 (AP).—[illegible] low over Wotje Atoll in the Marshall Islands the night of January 9, sank a Japanese auxiliary oiler and another small vessel, wrecked two enemy airplanes on the ground and damaged shore installations.

This was the heaviest of four new air attacks on the Marshalls, announced today by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz. The assaults were made by army or navy planes on January 8 and 9. Wotje was hit twice and Jaluit and Kwajalein once each.

Rescued From Flood

CALGARY, Jan. 10 (CP).—New floods broke out west of Calgary tonight at Shouldice, and Calgary firemen had occasion to use their boat for a second time to rescue residents from water-surrounded homes.

Two families residing a short distance north of the Shouldice Bridge, the Nelsons and Ericksons, were taken from their homes by firemen.

However, while firemen were at the scene, the water broke through the ice jam near the bridge, and the river level behind the ice pack dropped six feet within a short time, as the water was released. Chief McKinnon stated he believed the danger in that area had passed, temporarily at least.

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP).—Col. R. S. W. Fordham, director of labor projects of the Dominion Department of Labor, said here today that by the end of next week about 2,000 German prisoners will be cutting pulpwood and logs in the Ontario bush. There are already 1,000 in Quebec, 440 in Northern Manitoba and 150 in Alberta, he said.

Private companies pay for the keep of the men and give them a nominal daily wage, he said. A prisoner costs the Government 25c a day to feed and house.

William Jacques, 60, reported recently by his Vancouver relatives to have been missing since December 28, was at Duncan on December 30, Fred Richardson, Tillicum Club, told city police Monday. Jacques had said he was staying at Ladysmith.

Honored Dean of Journalism In Canada, J. W. Dafoe Passes

Helped Shape as Well as Write History of Dominion, Premier Says—Many Pay Tributes

WINNIPEG, Jan. 10 (CP).—From all parts of Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom and Australia came tributes today to the work of the dean of Canadian journalism, J. W. Dafoe, who died suddenly Sunday.

They echoed the words of Prime [illegible] he kept his newspaper in the fore-[illegible] the Dominion and every major issue in international affairs.

"I have always been interested in politics, but not in political honor for myself," Mr. Dafoe had said.

While a representative of the Department of Public Information at the 1919 Paris peace conference Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain offered Mr. Dafoe a knighthood. "What would I do with a title?" the Winnipeg editor asked. "I shovel my own snow and tend my own furnace."

Among the causes he advocated was the creation of national status for Canada. In this capacity, Mr. Dafoe took a prominent part in every Empire press conference from 1909 to 1930. He also wrote books on constitutional affairs.

COLLECTIVE ACTION AGAINST AGGRESSION

After the 1919 peace conference he emphasized that only through collective action against aggression and action for freer trade could the world ever attain peace.

Before the second Great War many of his editorials were devoted to collective security and criticism of public men of all parties for neglect of the problem. His campaign for the establishment of the League of Nations brought him honor, distinction and influence.

Mr. Dafoe was the author of "Over the Canadian Battlefields," "Laurier, a Study in Canadian Politics," "Contributions to Great Britain and the Dominions," "Clifford Sifton in Relation to His Times" and "Canada: An American Nation."

Starting at the age of 17, he became a parliamentary gallery writer within a few months. After two sessions in the press gallery, he became the first editor of The Ottawa Journal in 1885. He came to Winnipeg as a Free Press reporter the following year and stayed until 1892, when he became editor of The Montreal Herald. From 1895 until he returned to the Free Press in 1901, he was on the editorial staff of The Montreal Star.

Agricultural Council Head to Speak Here

Lord De La Warr, chairman of the Agricultural Research Council of Great Britain, will speak Thursday at a joint luncheon of Victoria Canadian Club and Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Besides his chairmanship of the important council, he is responsible for flax production in Britain during the war and also manages an 850-acre farm in Sussex, on which the working men share the profits.

Members of farmers' organizations, and others interested in agriculture, have been invited to the meeting. They must buy tickets before tomorrow evening.

From 1929 to 1940 Lord De La Warr has held many important Government positions. He was also mayor of Bexhill for three terms, and is chairman of a House of Lords committee on postwar agricultural policy.

Continue Opposition

NAPLES, Jan. 10 (AP).—Italian political party leaders told members of the Allied Control Commission in a series of individual conferences today that they were determined to continue their opposition to King Victor Emmanuel until he is forced to abdicate.

Members of the control commission have been in Naples for two days.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 10 (AP).—A strong earthquake with an epicentre in the Pacific about 90 miles from the port of Acapulco, shook this capital shortly after 3 p.m. (3 p.m., C.D.T.) today, wrecking one factory but causing no injuries.

There were no immediate reports from Acapulco.

Esquimalt Council Backs Langley's Demand for "Floor" Prices on Eggs

ESQUIMALT Municipal Council Monday night endorsed a Langley resolution urging that price control boards should establish a "floor" as well as a "ceiling" for eggs. The resolution, pointing to the recent sharp price drop, and expressing the fear it would curtail production at a time when all eggs available were wanted for the armed forces and for Great Britain, urged that prices should be set on the basis of reasonable cost of production.

The Council established a policy under which residents would be permitted to use municipally-owned land for Victory gardens. Last year the Victory gardeners paid $1 a year rent, and the municipality was unable to sell any of the lots so rented. It was decided that this year no rental should be charged, that gardeners could obtain the use of lots upon application, but that in the event of the land being sold the Council would do its best to arrange a "gentleman's agreement" between the purchaser and the gardener to indemnify the gardener. Applications of J. Harris and C. Price for lots were dealt with on this basis.

At the suggestion of Saanich, the Council decided to inform the member for Esquimalt, Squadron Leader A. V. Finland, that it endorsed the Union of British Columbia Municipalities stand that the cost of education should be removed from the land and should be a charge upon the consolidated revenue of the Province.

Willingness to share with Saanich the cost of redecking the Gorge Bridge was expressed and the foreman of works was instructed to ascertain the exact cost of the work.

Councillor J. A. Ellis, chairman of the fuel committee, reporting on a recent meeting with Federal fuel authorities, stated municipalities had co-operated to the full in building up emergency stockpiles. The question of using the wood, of deciding when the emergency occurred to warrant its use, was left entirely to the municipalities.

Reeve Alex Lockley reported a meeting would be held today with Royal Jubilee Hospital officials regarding the proposed maternity wing and grants requested of municipalities.

The Council's inter-municipal committee, consisting of Reeve Lockley and Councillors Ellis, Hadfield and G. R. Guillemaud, was appointed to the study group of the Chamber of Commerce inter-municipal study group.

Request of Miss D. B. Reeves that the Council share the cost of clearing a root-blocked sewer on property adjoining hers was referred to the foreman of works.

Price of $90 was set on a lot for which V. Wright made application to purchase some time ago. In a letter received by the Council last night he stated he had not expected his offer of $50 would be accepted but he hoped to arrive at a price somewhere between $50 and $90.

TO DISCUSS SIDEWALK WITH NAVAL ENGINEER

The Council instructed the foreman of works to take up with the naval engineer the question of repairing or removing a sidewalk, pointing out the Council had no intention of making repairs, but if removal of the walk was desired it would be removed. A letter from the city solicitor said the Council was not under obligation to repair walks or install street lights, but if a condition was brought to its attention and it failed to take action it might be responsible in case of accident.

Herbert Bradstock was appointed janitor, on probation for a month.

The 1944 Tax Sale Land Sale By-Law was given two readings.

Notice of motion of a by-law to prohibit the keeping of cows within the municipality was given by Councillor Hadfield.

Councillor Guillemaud gave notice of motion of a curfew by-law.

No action was taken on rehabilitation pending information on what the Federal and Provincial Governments proposed to do.

The health officer was instructed to inspect a house at 798 Fairview Road to decide whether it was fit for habitation. The occupants recently died and the house was now in the hands of the old age pensions branch, it was explained.

Death Sentence for Ciano; Other Fascists Condemned

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP).—Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's playboy son-in-law and former Italian Foreign Minister, has been sentenced to death for "treason" to Italy and its deposed dictator, the Berlin radio announced tonight.

Ciano and 17 other members of the Grand Fascist Council were condemned in a two-day trial by an extraordinary tribunal of Mussolini's revamped Republican Fascist Government for voting to oust Mussolini, the broadcast said, quoting a D.N.B. dispatch from Northern Italy.

Only five of those sentenced to death are in Fascist hands, among them 76-year-old Marshal Emilio de Bono, who commanded the expedition to Ethiopia. The others are Ciano, Carlo Pareschi, former Minister of Agriculture; Giovanni Marinelli, former head of the Fascist militia, and a man named Gotardi.

Tullio Cianetti, former Minister of Corporations, was a 19th defendant, and was sentenced to 30 years at forced labor, D.N.B. added.

There was no indication either that Mussolini's daughter, Edda, tried to save her husband or that Mussolini appeared as a witness against Ciano.

The 13 Grand Council members sentenced in absentia included Count Dino Grandi, former Ambassador to London and president of the Chamber of Fasces and Guilds, who led the battle in the council to depose Mussolini. The dictator was ousted on July 25 and placed under guard, but later was "rescued" by Nazi troops.

The German dispatch said the trial was held at Verona.

Ciano, whose last job in his father-in-law's Government was as Ambassador to the Vatican, was placed under arrest by Marshal Badoglio's Government but later escaped. The Germans said they captured him at the Swiss border.

Ciano, 40, was reputed to have become one of the richest men in Italy under the Fascist regime.

Reports on December 6 from the Swiss-Italian border had said that Ciano had been executed, shot in the back by a firing squad. The Germans denied this and subsequently announced the treason trials would start last Saturday. The account today gave no details of the trial.

A Swiss dispatch to The News Chronicle said Mussolini's illness prevented him from attending the trials. Ciano, the dispatch said, presented a "written formal defence which was intended rather for posterity than for the court."

Council Endorses Airport And Gorge Canal Projects

CITY Council yesterday endorsed proposals advanced by R. W. Mayhew, M.P., for establishment of an airport at Gordon Head, and for flushing the Gorge waters by cutting a channel from the upper reaches of Portage Inlet to the sea.

The subject was brought before the council by the business, trade [illegible] added: "Both projects are highly desirable and we of the council should give our entire support to the efforts conducted by Mr. Mayhew to improve conditions here generally."

Letters dealing with Victoria's request for a reduction in existing electric light rates along with Mayor McGavin's letter to Premier John Hart and the reply, were passed on to the Utilities Commission.

H. W. Mellish, acting secretary of the Provincial Public Utilities Commission, informed the council that conditions existing at the present time make it inopportune to alter the basic rate structure for light and power.

In reply to the city reqdest for immediate reduction in rates the letter went on to say: "I am directed to advise that the representations made in your letter of March 14, 1941, and later by representatives of the city at public hearings are still before the commission.

"As explained in the reports of the commission, copies of which have been forwarded to the representatives of the City of Victoria, the conditions existing at the present time make it inopportune to alter the basic rate structure.

"Further I am directed to point out that temporary relief of a substantial character has been given, and further action will be taken in the future at the time and in the manner which best conserves the public interest, and which is just and reasonable to all parties concerned.

The control over rates by the Public Utilities Commission is continuous and changing factors in the situation are continually under review. In giving further consideration to this matter, the opinion of the Victoria City Council, as expressed in your letter and the application made by you on their behalf, will have the attention of the commission."

REQUEST FORWARDED TO HEALTH COMMITTEE

A request from the Victorian Order of Nurses that their annual grant be increased due to the extra work caused by the shortage of doctors and the growth of the city's population was referred to the health committee.

The finance committee was asked to deal with a letter from the secretary of the school board asking permission for a delegation from that board to discuss with the council the question of cost-of-living bonuses for school board employees and teachers.

Report of Professor E. S. Farr and F. L. Shaw, city advisors on electrical rates and representatives of Victoria at the recent hearing before the Public Utilities Commission, were ordered sent to each member of the council prior to discussion at the next meeting.

Council approved the finance committee's recommendation refusing the remission of the $1 fee charged wood dealers for the marking of containers on their trucks. Greater Victoria Fuel Dealers' Association had requested such action in an earlier letter to the council.

Parks committee was asked to deal with a request from the Provincial Recreation Training Department for assistance in carrying on their training classes in Victoria. Additional facilities have been asked for by Jerry Matheson, provincial director.

Mayor Andrew McGavin's appointment of Alderman John Worthington as the city's representative on the W.C.T.U. Home was approved.

Request of the Colwood Park Association for 40 additional stables at the Willows track was handed to the city's representative on the British Columbia Agricultural Association.

Public works committee recommendations that Dr. G. A. B. Hall be given permission to remove a large tree in front of his house on Augus[illegible] Road, and that a loading zone be marked out in front of Prince Robert House were approved.

On the advice of the city solicitor and recommendation of the public works committee the City Council authorized payment of the sum of $1,230 to the insurers of the Maxim Gorky, a ship which was allegedly damaged in a collision with the Johnson Street Bridge in April, 1943. The amount will be in full settlement.

Council passed a vote of thanks to the Rotary Club for entertaining Mayor McGavin and members of the council at its luncheon at the Empress Hotel on January 6.

Sick pay was granted to two civic employees.

Vancouver Island Labor Conference Condemns New Canadian Labor Code

CONDEMNATION of the new Canadian Labor Code, expressed at the meeting of the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference Sunday at the Labor Hall, 602 Broughton Street, will be conveyed to Ottawa in letters to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor. The new code was described as an "iniquitous piece of legislation" designed to "intimidate organized labor."

At the same time a call was issued to all Victoria unions to a joint meeting to discuss the code in full and to decide upon further action.

The meeting protested laying off workers in Victoria shipyards while there was still an urgent need of shipping for the United Nations, and expressed the opinion some effective rehabilitation scheme should be placed in operation before these workers were laid off.

The conference decided also to write to Selective Service deploring a recent report that layoffs in the shipyards affected only inefficient workers, and pointing out this might lead to discrimination against them. Such a statement could be harmful to many workers through no fault of their own, it was contended.

Delegates were urged to report back to their unions on the subject of postwar rehabilitation, informing them this all-important question should be advanced at once and that organized groups should study all phases of suggested programmes.

DAY NURSERY QUESTION — REFERRED TO OTTAWA

Question of establishing day nurseries in Victoria had been referred to the Federal Government, reported A. C. Bull and H. G. Yetman, giving a report of an interview with Hon. George S. Pearson, Provincial Secretary, in company with a large delegation of women.

A lengthy letter from Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health, in reply to a letter from the conference suggesting that chlorination of Victoria water should be avoided in view of relaxed dim-out regulations, stated this had nothing to do with chlorination. The minister enclosed an article by Dr. C. E. Dolman, director of the Provincial Public Health Laboratories, advising chlorination of water in major cities.

In reply to a protest by the conference against increased charges at local hospitals, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Toronto, defended the increase and pointed out higher wage and commodity costs had forced the increase.

William Caird and C. W. White were appointed to represent the Labor Conference at meetings of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

Major J. P. Simon and Dr. D. M. Baillie addressed the conference, outlining the work and activities of the institute. Major Simon stressed that the institute was a non-political body and gave various examples of exchange of political ideas at meetings. He also outlined facilities open to the institute throughout the Allied Nations.

Both speakers stressed the importance of labor representation on the institute and urged affiliation.

H. Rowland, for the health committee, stated this committee was waiting for a full report on the proposed Canadian health insurance plan before publicizing its brief.

Congratulations of the conference were extended to Robert Noble on his election to the council of Saanich Municipality.

R. Jones and George A. Wilkinson outlined a recent conference called by the National Film Board in Vancouver and stated new films were considerably better than any shown in the past three months. They urged all unions to make use of the films at their local meetings.

Welcomed as delegates to the conference were T. Regan, of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders; F. W. McPherson, of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers, and Darshan Singh and Edward Logan, of the International Woodworkers of America.

Justice Speaks on Colonial Justice

Chief Justice M. Baillie Begbie of the Colony of British Columbia was a big man, physically and mentally, and the man best fitted to administer justice in a new land, Hon. Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson said Monday night in an address before the Victoria Branch of the British Columbia Historical Society at the annual meeting held in the Provincial Library.

Reviewing the history of the "Administration of Justice in Colonial Days," Mr. Justice Robertson pointed out that it had been necessary to appoint uninstructed men to this important work in the early days. Mr. Justice Cameron, appointed by Governor Douglas, had had no legal training but fortunately was a very able person.

Chief Justice Begbie, however, was qualified by experience and training, and the records were full of instances of his capabilities. The speaker instanced his verdict against a man who had killed a Chinaman.

"Many people thought killing a Chinaman was no great matter, but the Chief Justice had other ideas. He condemned the culprit to be hanged. When the hanging took place the next day, the judge himself stood guard with a rifle, it was said, to see that no one interfered with justice."

Often, Mr. Justice Robertson said, justice was administered by J.P.'s whose knowledge of the law was sadly lacking and resulted in cases something like that of a negro J.P. across the line, who had fined a corpse $5 for carrying concealed weapons, after he had discovered that the clothes of the drowned man held a weapon and a five-dollar bill!

Enlivening his talk with many anecdotes, the speaker gave a careful study of the growth of justice, and of the inception of the right to go to the Privy Council, dating from an act passed in 1849.

Moving a vote of thanks, B. A. McKelvie said it was a splendid picture of the laying of a cornerstone of our society, for the courts are a cornerstone. The difficulties were indeed great."

Annual balloting resulted in the nomination of the following members who will form the coming year's council: Mrs. M. B. Cree, Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson, Miss M. Wolfenden, Major H. C. Holmes, Major H. I. Nation, Hon. Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson, Dr. T. A. Rickard, F. C. Green and B. A. McKelvie.

The council will elect a president and various officers among themselves.

Secretary Mrs. Cree was unable to attend the meeting and Major Nation read the minutes in her stead.

French Assembly Demanding Allies Recognize Patriots

ALGIERS, Jan. 10 (AP). — The French Consultative Assembly demanded today that the United Nations officially recognize French guerrillas as the vanguard of invasion and include them in the strategy for attack.

At the same time, Gen. Charles De Gaulle blamed the Allies for what he called "painful, dolorous negotiations" with the French National Committee for arming the patriots.

After the Assembly unanimously adopted a five-point resolution calling on the committee to seek official recognition for the underground resistance groups through both military and diplomatic channels, De Gaulle asserted the Battle of France "is one and indivisible," waged by people within and without France and would continue until the French Government returned to France.

"This is a special kind of war," he said. "It may surprise the Allied Governments who could not picture it. Much has been done, but not enough to aid the French patriots.

Interior Commissioner Emmanual d'Astier de la Vigerie, summing up a two-day discussion of the resistance movement, declared a purge of "traitors" would be conducted regardless of the British and American Governments, adding, "To the Allies we would say, 'The sooner the purge is over, the sooner order will be established.'"

The Assembly resolution asked the committee to:

1. Improve liaison with resistance groups in France.

2. Unify assistance to patriots under authority of the Commissioner of Interior.

3. Consider the secret military organization within France as the vanguard of a French liberation army.

4. Assure immediate dispatch of equipment to this vanguard.

5. Seek through diplomatic and military channels immediate United Nations recognition of resistance groups as an effective vanguard and their inclusion in strategic invasion plans.

The War Today—

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

A climactic Russian effort to turn both ends of the Bug River defence line before German forces all but isolated in the Dnieper bend can reach it seems to be brewing.

Success would mean entrapment in Russia of anywhere up to 1,000,000 Nazi troops. It would expose Rumania and the southeastern flank of the Nazi defence front covering the Balkans to swift Russian penetration, and would go far to confirm the conclusions of gloomy German broadcasters that the decisive battle of the war in Europe is being fought now between the Pripet Marshes and the Black Sea.

From Berlin comes the first word of an indicated Russian move to couple a two-day drive from the south at the Nikolaev anchor on the lower Bug line with the many-pronged Red attacks to the north. Nazi bulletins told of a Russian amphibious assault beaten off at Ochakov, 40 miles southwest of Nikolaev at the mouth of the Dnieper-Bug estuary.

Moscow had nothing to say about this. An attempted Russian landing at that point to take Nikolaev in the rear would be a logical companion piece for a surge at the same objective across the frozen lower Dnieper, however. The Nazis have been expecting that ever since they abandoned their bridgehead opposite Kherson on the lower Dnieper.

Ochakov to the southwest and Kherson to the southeast lie about the same distance—40 miles—from Nikolaev, lower Bug metropolis.

Nikolaev itself lies on the east bank of the lower Bug. It is the southern transportation hub of the whole Dnieper bend. Lost to the Germans, it would leave their southern flank in the bend as much in jeopardy as their northern flank where two Ukrainian armies are converging toward an early junction at Novo Ukrainka.

The second Ukrainian army which took Kirovograd is now within 20 miles or less of Novo Ukrainka, controlling central Bug crossings. Capture of that rail hub would virtually close the trap on Nazi forces routed from their last central Dnieper foothold southeast of Kiev, cutting them off from escape across the Bug. The only other escape route is the Cherkassy-Vapukarka connection and the first Ukrainian army at Buki was within artillery range of that line on Sunday.

A successful drive at Nikolaev from the south to match these dangerous stabs from the north is to be expected if ice on the lower Dnieper is thick enough to carry heavy equipment. The reported amphibious attempt at Ochakov backdoor to Nikolaev, looks like the beginning of such an operation. It cannot be questioned that simultaneous Russian capture of Nikolaev and Novo Ukrainka would snap shut the Dnieper bend trap and spell military disaster for the Nazi army on a scale far surpassing either Stalingrad or Tunsia.

Nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me.

John Wesley Dafoe

Editor-in-chief of The Winnipeg Free Press for four decades in the present century, a personal force in North American journalism and a distinguished Canadian in every sense of the term, the death of Dr. John Wesley Dafoe, Manitoba's beloved man of letters, came as a shock on Sunday to a great host of friends and acquaintances in all parts of this country and indeed much further afield. Few men in their time have exercised so powerful an influence on this Dominion, either through their personal magnetism or by their rich endowments of thought.

Of hardy United Empire Loyalist stock, Dr. Dafoe was a boy of seven at the time of Confederation, and for all of his life remained a keen and critical student of how that great plan would work out. He was a professing and a practicing Canadian, one who loved this land sincerely, and desired for it an ever more honored place in the comity of nations forming the Western world. A survivor of the days of personal journalism, he carried over into the new day a keen talent for organization and an alert and vibrant mind. At his death he was, and for many years had been, an Elder of Canada, both in statecraft and in the affections of the people.

Dr. Dafoe's contributions to journalism are too well known to require recitation. The Winnipeg Free Press is a standing memorial to his name. He was a promoter of The Canadian Press, and a delegate of this country in Empire press conferences twice in London and once at Melbourne. He acted for the Department of Information at the Peace Conference of 1919, and was present at more than one Empire conference later. As a member of the Rowell Commission, he toured Canada in the years immediately before this war, and his work on that group was richly human and constructive as all the records show. Dr. Dafoe filled his life with useful work, and his passing at the advanced age of 77 leaves this country with vivid and enduring memories. The Daily Colonist adds the sincerest regrets to what we know will be a nation's own. A superlatively informed and richly human figure has gone from our midst, and all are the poorer for that.

Long Distance Flight

The increasing range of aircraft, under which flights of 3,000 miles and more are today quite ordinary, is lifting spherical geography from a theoretical study into the passenger departments of the major transportation services of the world. When this war ends half of the world air routes will be installed already on the ground and the remainder may come quickly. It will be a round world, the globe of the Air Age. There will be innumerable surprises in it, pleasant and unpleasant. For instance, the Lower Mainland of British Columbia and Vancouver Island—at the edge of the great Pacific Ocean—may find themselves in something of an air-vacuum in so far as world flight is concerned: while California, the Yukon and Alaska move closer to ringside seats. Spherical geography can do that.

Even while the war is in progress, permanent global routes are taking shape. Canada, Labrador, Greenland, Iceland and the United Kingdom has been traveled in the North Atlantic air route by unbelievable quantities of men, supplies and machines. The lateral air route across Africa, over the heart of the Dark Continent, has been as much traveled in its own way as Piccadilly Circus by its speeding tubes. New York, Bermuda, the Azores and Lisbon in the South Atlantic crossing; and Gibraltar, Cairo, Teheran eastward in the Mediterranean to the Middle East, are mentioned almost daily in dispatches. The Pacific routes, due to war hazard, have yet to crystallize, but routes from Edmonton through Fairbanks, the Aleutian Islands, Vladivostok in the north, and via San Francisco, Honolulu and Malaya in the south, are clearly indicated.

Spherical geography is still a little new. Perhaps not one of the main air routes of the world will go in precisely where we may now believe. The flat maps are no manner of indication. What will likely happen is that the main population centres will be tied together by the most direct air route that is found feasible. These will be Great Circle routes and much "as the crow flies." For aviation itself is growing up. It no longer needs to puddle-jump in 200 or 300-mile hops. It is reaching out into laps of 1,000, 2,000 and 3,000 miles or better. It has discovered that the equator after all is the longest way around, and that over the pole where the Earth wears its cap are inviting shortcuts.

In Canada there may be tremendous consequences. The Yukon River will be as close to parts of Europe as is the St. Lawrence. What we know as the empty North may come to be known as the traveled North. The West Coast, like a geranium, may develop nodes at unexpected places, sprouting afresh in the north and in the south. Over the Atlantic and over the Pacific there will be north lines and south lines, and at some periods of the year these may reverse. Not all of the answers are known yet, and will not be until men have a world-weather chart. But this much is certain, spherical geography will deal with a smaller Earth, and will know fewer obstacles to its circumnavigation in the Air Age than ever before among human kind. Migrating birds fly a 3,000-mile circuit and think nothing of that. Man will fly the whole of his terrestrial orb as easily, and think as little of that, one day and perhaps soon.

Nine for One

Under the British North America Act the right of direct taxation was allotted to the Provinces. The income tax is such a tax, and until near the close of the last war it remained where at Confederation it had been placed, in the hands of the nine Provincial partners to that union. Then, as a wartime expedient, the Dominion said it wished to participate in the income tax: and the Provinces said they understood and because of emergent times would also concur. The Armistice came and then peace, and the Dominion was still participating. It still is.

Early in this war, before the financial readjustment between the Dominion and the nine Provinces as recommended by the Rowell Commission could be effected, the Dominion proposed to the Provinces that it take over also the collection of the income tax and rebate to the Provinces fixed sums, based on their former rates of collection. This was to be for the duration of the war and one year afterward, and as a war emergency only. British Columbia, through its Legislature, agreed. Nor will it now go back upon its given word. What follows is merely to keep the record straight against that day when a Dominion-Provincial fiscal readjustment must come.

For nine months in the present fiscal year the Dominion announces that it has collected $115,825,772 in income taxation through its Victoria and Vancouver offices, concerning British Columbia and the Yukon. The Yukon's share is given separately as $1,420,850, so that the remainder presumably was collected within this Province. This sum, $115,825,772, was an increase of $32,756,830 from the nine months' period in last year, and again that increase came mostly from British Columbia. Under the wartime, emergency and dated arrangement with this Province, the Dominion is to hand back to British Columbia the sum of $12,048,000, from collections exceeding $114,000,000 odd. Had the Province been collecting for its own account, however, the sum would have been closer to $17,000,000. So here is a direct British Columbia contribution of some $5,000,000, over and above all else this Province has done. British Columbia would like credit for that. Compared with British Columbia receipts, the Dominion is now receiving at the rate of nine for one from income and corporation taxes here.

Seen in Passing

Mr. Robert L. Smyth, of Berkeley, Cal., has now taken up residence in Victoria as United States Consul, in succession to a long and able line of predecessors in the same post. We wish for him the same cordial and happy relations which have made the departures of previous American consuls here occasions for universal regret. Berkeley is where our meadow larks Winter, before their return in the Spring.

"When a soldier attacks like an Anzac, holds like a Guardsman, and fights like a Texan, his regiment is Canadian," said Mr. Walter Winchell in a tribute to the Men of the Maple Leaf is a broadcast heard here on Sunday. And there's one for Colonel McCormick and The Chicago Tribune to ponder.

Whichever way one looks at it—whether they are trapped behind the Dnieper, the Dniester or the Bug—the German High Command is bound to get somebody's feet wet before it can complete its elastic defence and retire triumphantly from the whole of the Ukraine.

If the Germans really knew it their best "secret weapon" now would be to stop before they are licked. That would be a poser for every chancellory in the free world. Fortunately that was seen in advance by the United Nations, and that is why the word "unconditional" remains as a necessary precedent to the enemy's ultimate surrender. For nobody is going to go through this business again in another twenty years. Twice in one century is enough.

To Anadyomene

(A Greek statue found on the shores of Italy)

Borne by strange seas and tides you came
As driftwood to a far off land;
Like restless waves your sculptured hair:
Pale shells, green seaweed and soft sand
Caressed you. Beauty of the sea
Is yours—Anadyomene.

From whose strong hands your beauty grew,
Who made you blossom like a flower,
Who, by his soul, made stone a flame,
We know not. His undying power
Lives on in silence. As a sigh
His name has faded—let it die.

The Third Column

WHEN LIGHTS GO ON

A London dispatch tells of the scene when one of its boroughs tested the lighting on the main street the other day. People rushed out of doors to see the unusual spectacle and children exclaimed in wonder. To many of the latter, who have missed much of the happiness of childhood, it was a "miracle," something they had never seen. To everyone it was a glimpse of what it would be like "when the lights go on again"—the old familiar surroundings bathed in the glow of homely lights.

By all accounts, lack of light at night is one of the heaviest burdens the people of Great Britain have to bear. Letters from Canadian boys overseas all tell of the terribly depressing effect of the blackout, of the low spirits it causes, apart altogether from its inconvenience. Of all the hardships over there it is often placed first.

On this side of the Atlantic we have been lucky in this respect, as in many others, being among the favored nations of this war. But the glimpse we got of a blackout in the three days following Pearl Harbor makes it easy to imagine what it must be like to suffer it night after night, year after year. It must be appalling.

Certainly the blackout, not merely of electricity but of all that makes life worth living, that for a long time seemed certain to engulf the world, is appalling to contemplate—and it will probably be found that we escaped by the skin of our teeth. It is not so easy to appreciate that, however.

POOR STATE OF MIND

The trouble is we hear the same things so often they cease to make much impression on us. Take the phrase "fighting for freedom," for example. It is the literal truth, as anyone must admit if he takes time to think about the Nazis and what they mean, yet its repetition in various forms hides its significance. It goes in at one ear and out of the other.

This is human, but it is regrettable. The danger is that repetition will weary us into indifference, a poor state of mind if we want to avoid another German attempt at a world blackout.

Recently a Gallup poll in Canada revealed that a majority of those questioned, 34 per cent, thought it unlikely there would be another world war within the next 25 years. Twenty-nine per cent thought there would be, 21 per cent had no opinion, and 16 per cent qualified their answers.

Gallup polls are of course no real criterion. They are usually snap judgments, often on matters that cannot be intelligently dealt with offhand. The 21 per cent without any opinion on the next war is probably a better indication of the answer most people would give if everyone were questioned. Uninformed opinion on this topic can be of little value.

But to those who know something about Germany's past misdeeds and the chances of her future good behaviour the possibility of another war is giving some concern. Concurrent with the emergence of voices that favor treating Germany after this war with a velvet glove, are the doubts of those who are sceptical about any real German reformation.

NEED FOR CAUTION

They fear a recrudescence of the Prussian militarism that has dominated Germany for the past two centuries unless the clamps are put on for some time to come. They believe Germany has long since taken the mythological Phoenix to her bosom, and, by hook or by crook, generally the latter, invariably rises from the ashes of defeat to begin her attempts at conquest all over again.

Stories like those coming out of Italy do not allay their fears. A recent news item told of a captured German officer shrugging his shoulders philosophically and saying, "We have failed this time, but my son will see to the next time."

This is the sort of thing that makes many people agree with Lord Vansittart, the leading exponent of the school that believes time and caution are essential before accepting German conversion; the school that would place overseers in Germany to see she does not run amuck again.

When you remember the conduct of Germans towards their neighbours, the will to war that has sent them forth on conquest five times in the last 75 years, and the horror and suffering they have inflicted on mankind, it is not easy to favor the velvet glove.

When the lights come on again all over the world it would be folly not to take steps to prevent another blackout. The steps need not be unjustly harsh, but they should be realistic.

ROYAL COMMISSIONS

Sir,—Why should it be necessary to appoint a Royal Commission with costly officials and lawyers, to say nothing of travelling and other expenses, to investigate the timber situation in British Columbia? Surely the Government, with its experts in the Forestry Department, can conduct the fullest enquiry, without the expense of a Royal Commission.

In the past a Royal Commission has been almost a proverbial joke in British Columbia and is regarded by some as a means of providing a meal ticket or other reward for services rendered to the party in the past by the appointees.

INFORMATION ASKED

Sir,—Having my two boys at sea, one in the navy and the other in the merchant navy, I am naturally deeply concerned about their welfare. As far as the navy is concerned the issue is fairly clear, but as to the merchant service one does not know where these boys stand. We know about the wages but there are other matters, say as pertains to a boy whose home town is Victoria, he joins his ship here or in Vancouver and is signed off in Montreal, Halifax or Timbuktu, for that matter. How does he get home?

One hears of boys being stranded far from home. Could some authority on the matter publish a statement covering such circumstances or others that might apply to a merchant seaman? I feel sure at this time it would be opportune for the Navy League's officers to tell the public where the boy of the merchant navy stand.

UNITED, WE STAND

Sir,—Let me congratulate The Colonist on the timely and splendid editorial in reply to Col. McCormick's article referring to the British Empire. It is very good to know that the majority of Americans do not think like Col. McCormick and his satellites; it must be very annoying to him to know that America, Britain and Russia are standing solidly together.

It would be interesting to know why this anti-Allies paper should still be allowed to come daily into Canadian cities. I, personally, have been forwarded copies of this objectionable paper by German-born residents here, until I discovered that they were continually alluding to similar things. Evidently whether they live in their fatherland or in a democracy their motto is still the same.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

REMEMBER, HANS, THEY ARE MILITARY IDIOTS

By G.B.

Hilmar R. Baukhage, Blue Network commentator, recently commented about demobilization: "On demobilization day 8,500,000 American servicemen will be asking, 'Will I find a job when I get back home?' There must be 55,000,000 jobs in the United States on demobilization day if the country is to move from war to peace without economic collapse. Of this number, one out of every seven must be filled by a new war veteran. There are now about 53,000,000 civilian war workers. Millions of ex-service men suddenly thrown on the labor market with millions of civilians out of work while retooling gets under way may bring critical months or years unless demobilization and reconversion both are skilfully timed and balanced, and unless public works are held in the offing to strengthen the transition. If the war should stop suddenly before plans are complete to reconvert industry from war to peace production, economists fear unemployment of from 8,000,000 to 20,000,000" . . . Last Sunday the Keating Squire and a neighbor traveled to Saanich Arm to secure some fresh fish for their larders. Having no boat, they baited their hooks with worms and fished from the bank as they had been accustomed to in their youth. "Tell you what," the Squire remarked, "Let's put up $1 each, and the man who catches the first fish takes the pool." His friend heartily agreed. Fifteen minutes later the friend got a bite, rose to his feet in excitement, and fell into the cold water with a resounding splash. The Squire rushed to aid the floundering fisherman, and shouted as he extended a helping hand: "All bets are off if you are going to dive for the fish" . . . "What is your favorite tune?" we asked the girl next door the day after she had attended a dance. "Beethoven's Moonlight Sinatra," she—dreamily replied . . . Many motorists complain about hard starting and slow pick-up with the present low octane gasoline. A master mechanic told us he had solved the problem by using a teaspoonful of commercial ether per gallon in the tank of his car.

According to Culbertson

It is a strange fact that as scientific a game as bridge should be plagued with fads. Unhappily, however, every so often someone comes forward with a brand new "theory" of bidding, and, human nature being what it is, there are bound to be enthusiastic converts. The latest, and perhaps most esoteric, convention is the artificial diamond response to an opening club bid, the object of which is to extend to partner the great courtesy and favor of holding his bid open, while (presumably) remaining at a safe level.

North-South in the following deal were disciples of this new "system."

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH
♠ K 6 2
♥ K 8 6 5
♦ 10 7 3
♣ 4 3 2

WEST
♠ 10 5
♥ 9 4 3
♦ K Q 9 8 5 2
♣ 8 7

EAST
♠ Q 8 7 4 3
♥ J 10 2
♦ A J 6
♣ 10 5

SOUTH
♠ A J 9
♥ A Q 7
♦ 4
♣ A K Q J 9 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♦ (!)	Pass
2 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

West was so unfeeling as to open a diamond, for all of North's bid, and the result was that North-South paid a penalty of 200 points on a hand that was a laydown for six clubs with 100 honors!

I need hardly point out that North-South were victims of their own system. The one diamond response made by North was supposed to be cheaper and consequently safer than one heart, but it didn't work out that way! Had North bid the heart, South would have been entirely justified in leaping all the way to five clubs, and although the partners scarcely could arrive at a slam, they would at least have the satisfaction and profit of collecting the game and rubber.

After the one diamond response, artificial or not, South would have been more than human to resist the impulse to put his faith in a nine trick, three no trump contract. Why, all North needed was some kind of sketchy diamond stopper, and the fact that he had bid one diamond under the system surely was no guarantee that he didn't have the suit stopped.

Ample Phosphate

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP).—Canadian phosphate requirements for fertilizer purposes in 1944 should be in ample supply, G. S. Peart, fertilizers administrator, said today in a statement.

The principal phosphate material available will be 20 per cent superphosphate, and anticipated production in Eastern Canada in 1944 is expected to reach 200,000 tons, more than double that produced in any year before the war.

This Canadian production will supply about 60 per cent of the demand. The other 40 per cent will come mainly from United States production.

Paint and Putty Covered Crack

SEATTLE, Jan. 10 (AP). — The cracking of five additional Liberty ships at sea and the apparent launching of another craft "with a crack in her hull that had been daubed full of red lead putty and covered over with paint," have been disclosed by Representative Warren G. Magnuson (Democrat, Washington). The Congressman's disclosures, made in Seattle over the week-end, brought to 14 the number of Liberty ships which have been listed as cracking at sea.

A member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, Magnuson has been making a one-man on-the-spot investigation into the Liberty ship accidents and listed the Chief Washakie as the craft which was launched with the painted-over crack. The Washakie arrived in Seattle recently for repairs after breaking open on an Alaskan voyage and splitting twice more after repairs in the North.

"Whether the ship cracked open because of—or in addition to—the hidden crack launched with her hull is for the experts to determine. But the fact that the old crack, hidden by putty and paint, even existed, is damning evidence of unbelievable carelessness," Magnuson said.

He quoted Captain Charles C. Graham, of Puyallup, skipper of the Washakie since its 1942 launching, as saying "the fracture which broke the ship apart either came from, or came to, this old crack . . ."

SEABEES DISCOVERED THE BREAK

Graham said it was first called to his attention by Seabees, who were working on the ship in Dutch Harbor following the initial break at sea. "They discovered the break had existed prior to the splitting at sea . . . ," he declared.

He said the hull had not been painted since it left the yard. Magnuson said it was constructed in "Henry J. Kaiser's Oregon Shipbuilding Corporation at Portland."

The five newest Liberty ships disclosed to have suffered breaks at sea were listed as the Carl Schurz, William T. Sherman, Elias Howe, Samuel D. Ingham and George Abernathy.

Senator Mon C. Wallgren (Democrat, Washington), is expected to arrive in Seattle today to open hearings as a representative of the Senate Truman Committee.

New Manager of Robert House

HUBERT C. STAFFORD

RECENTLY appointed manager of Prince Robert House, is now actively identified with the popular Navy League hostel. Mr. Stafford came here from Windsor, Ont., where he was the manager of a large apartment hotel. Originally from England, he served for the duration of the Great War with the Royal Navy, arriving in Canada in 1926. As manager of Prince Robert House, Mr. Stafford is anxious to make things as pleasant as possible for the men of the naval and mercantile services on shore leave, and desires to announce that men and women of the other uniformed services will be welcome at all times. At present he is making plans to provide some sort of entertainment every night for service folk ashore. He would like to have a showing of motion pictures once or twice each week, but regrets that it is impossible to buy a projecting machine at the present time, and is hoping that someone will kindly loan one to the establishment. Mr. Stafford has a son who is serving aboard a corvette of the Royal Canadian Navy.

Pays Tribute to Late Journalist

Canada has lost one of her great national figures in the passing of John W. Dafoe, editor of The Winnipeg Free Press, Premier John Hart commented yesterday.

He said the late Mr. Dafoe was a man who did much to mould the life and character of the Dominion. Through the medium of journalism he did much to influence national policy, and his contribution to the nation's welfare in this respect was recognized by various universities, which conferred honorary degrees upon him.

Premier Hart recalled the greatest tribute to the editor's work was that made when he was selected as a Canadian delegate to the Peace Conference in 1919. He was also appointed a member of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations in 1937.

"Perhaps in the entire history of Canada no editor has had so much influence upon public affairs as did Mr. Dafoe. I would like to express my profound regret at his passing. He was a great counsellor and a great friend," Premier Hart declared.

TEACH YOUNG FARMERS

EDMONTON, Jan. 10 (CP).—The Provincial Department of Agriculture said today eight schools will be operated in Alberta this year to give three-week courses to young farmers in the repair of farm machinery. The first school has opened at Lloydminster and seven more are to be set up in various parts of the province.

The schools, made available under the Dominion - Provincial youth training programme, are open to farm boys and young farmers between the ages of 16 and 35 years.

New U.S. Consul Arrives in City

After twenty years in the diplomatic service, Robert L. Smyth, of Berkeley, California, and for the past two years of Washington, D.C., has been appointed the new United States Consul here.

Mr. and Mrs. Smyth arrived in Victoria a few days ago and are guests at the Empress Hotel.

Most of the new consul's diplomatic career has been spent in China; two years ago he was called by Washington to give the benefits of his wide experience to the division of Far Eastern Affairs there.

Mr. Smyth replaces Reed Paige Clark, who left the consulate a year ago.

Horticultural Group Meeting Tonight

Victoria Horticultural Society this evening at 7:30 at the City Hall will elect its 1944 officers, hear annual reports and see motion pictures on agriculture and plant growth. The pictures to be shown by the Provincial Department of Agriculture will be a colored set on agriculture in the Okanagan, and a talking film on plants.

Next Saturday afternoon this year's first pruning demonstration for the society will be made in the orchard of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Heritage, 1438 Grant Street. A second demonstration will be on January 19 in the orchard of H. Brown, 2423 Beach Drive.

The society's monthly competition will be for a specimen fern and two parsnips.

Museum Completes Educational Film

Editing and titles are being arranged by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, for a new 400-foot educational color film entitled "Nature's Amphibians." It deals with species, types and habits of frogs and salamanders, and will be exhibited to schools, clubs and other groups.

The photography was done by C. R. D. Ferris, Department of Trade and Industry, and title backgrounds were produced by Frank L. Beebe.

A copy of the first film produced for the Provincial Museum, dealing with the life and habits of seagulls and cormorants on Southern Vancouver Island, was borrowed by the National Film Board last year, and is now being shown in military camps throughout Eastern Canada.

Predicts Sufficient Beef for Consumers

A prediction that there would be no scarcity of beef in Western Canada and no contemplated shortage of pork for at least six months was made yesterday by John Byers, district superintendent of livestock production for the Federal Government in Western Canada.

Mr. Byers pointed out more cattle were being raised in British Columbia this year, and was optimistic about the farm products outlook for the entire Dominion.

He paid tribute to efforts of cattlemen of the Cariboo, Nicola and Kootenay districts for their efforts to improve breeds and prevent shortages of meat.

Even Tailored Spring Suits Have More Feminine Look

A good Spring suit forecast is this new Kraus original of brown and white checked wool (100 per cent virgin wool) by Forstmann. New notes are the low box kick pleats, the longer, pinched-in tailored jacket with lumberjacket sleeves, the two real pockets and two more mock pockets, the rounded lapels, and the amusing buttons which are of the kind to match the fabric. Wear it now beneath a coat, and later without.

Very new for late Winter and early Spring and wearable right into Summer is this suit in junior sizes with its matching short topper. Of all-wool hound's tooth check, the classic jacket has three buttons, and topper bigger plastic buttons of the same style. Notice the bias pocket flaps on both coat and jacket. The suit will go under a fur coat now, under its own topper for mild days, and both suit and topper may be worn alone, the topper over other suits, dresses or skirts and blouses.

Music Appreciated At Record Party

The Victoria Music Teachers' Association held an enjoyable record party at the home of Mrs. H. Gibson, Linkleas Avenue, recently. The president, Mrs. Marion MacGovern, welcomed the members and guests and Miss Jennie Wilkinson and Miss Helen Gibson arranged the programme, which opened with a recording of the Bach Brandenburg Concerto No. 4. This was followed by an aria from Charpentier's opera "Louise." Miss Ethel James sketched briefly the composer's life and Mr. Frederick Kriegel gave some of his impressions of the opera when he last saw it in Paris. A prelude by Shostakovitch and the Beethoven String Quartette, in E Minor, brought the programme to a close.

Later a buffet supper was served. Mrs. MacGovern presided at the table and Mrs. Nora Boulter and Miss Mary Adamson assisted in serving.

Postwar Employment Occupies Local Council

AROUSING enthusiastic comment and commendation, an addendum to the brief on household service as postwar employment for women was presented yesterday afternoon by Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, convener of education, before the Local Council of Women. Following the reading of these findings by Mrs. MacLaurin, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., announced her willingness to promote the suggestions contained in the paper, and a resolution was passed to forward the paper to Provincial Council, with a recommendation that legislation be sought to bring about establishment of such service.

Feeling that the greatest need for domestic help exists in the lower and middle income group, for mothers of children six and under, Mrs. MacLaurin recommends the establishment of a state-organized home service order, somewhat on the lines of the Victorian Order of Nurses, partly paid by the state, primarily directed towards helping mothers in the lower income groups who have small children.

TRAINEES MAY SPECIALIZE

Applicants for the home service order must have completed high school, with leaving certificate or equivalent. One year's additional training to be provided free in technical or night school. A home service certificate to be granted successful completion of the course and a special uniform. Trainees might specialize in cooking, sewing, laundry work or general housewifery, but elementary child psychology and care and feeding of children should be compulsory to all.

In order to meet the usual demand in services, the day will be divided into three four-hour periods at $1.50 per period. A monthly total of $60 should be guaranteed. As in other types of labor, meals would not be guaranteed. Not more than two periods per day to any worker.

Regarding services, Mrs. MacLaurin explained in part: Mothers with one child under six (or under-school age) might be entitled to one period per week free of charge; with two or more under six, more service in proportion; government cards to be issued for same. Additional service to be paid for by employer. It is anticipated a government scheme worked out on these lines would raise wages to standard of other occupations, limit hours and promote social prestige of home service workers.

Other advantages accruing from this scheme would mean every mother would be assured of at least four hours per week when she would be completely free from household cares and half the electorate (women) would have a chance to function as citizens.

MOTHERS TO HAVE FREE TIME

Mrs. MacLaurin continued: "The argument for a socialized home service would appear to be as sound as for a socialized health service." In conclusion, Mrs. MacLaurin said: "Under this scheme it will become possible for the first time in our history as a nation for every mother to have some free time each week in state recognition of her contribution and also of her personal need for freedom of self-expression and self-development and its reaction on her family." She continued: "This question of postwar employment for women is thus only a part of the whole question of the postwar status of women which, whether we realize it or not, is one of the issues of the present war, and one of the surest criteria of our state of civilization. Sooner or later this issue must be faced in our socially backward country, Canada, where sex discrimination still exists, where economic freedom for women is rare and where, although women constitute half the electorate and at least 10,000 are university graduates, women have a negligible part in government, in the professions and in the better-paid executive and administrative positions. One reason," stated Mrs. MacLaurin, "for this backwardness is the very fact that most Canadian mothers are bogged down in domesticity."

Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie discussed the possibility of naming a Provincial flower. She reported the Department of Education had sent out forty letters asking the opinion of representative persons on the suitability. Twenty-four answers favored the Aquilegia formosa (bright scarlet columbine), four were in favor of dogwood, which, it was said, only flourishes on the Coast and Vancouver Island; also mentioned were the Erythronium oregonian and Indian paint brush. "Nothing," said Mrs. Mackenzie, "has been settled or decided."

Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, speaking for the Provincial Council of Women, urged the formation of listening groups for the weekly broadcast, "Things to Come," on Tuesday from 8 to 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Isaac Fleming presided at the meeting.

Solarium Juniors Hold Elephant Sale

A "white elephant" sale and social evening was held at the home of Miss Valerie Kearton, Terrace Avenue, on Monday evening by the Solarium Junior League. Miss June Bevan acted as auctioneer for the sale. A short business meeting preceded the sale and Miss Dorothy Newman, convener of the recent Snow Ball, reported that the proceeds of the ball amounted to $304.44. Mrs. B. McEwen announced that $15.59 was received from penny boxes for the month of December. A sum of money was voted to buy an autocleaver for the Queen Alexandria Solarium. The president, Miss Esther Pitkethley, presided at the meeting.

A buffet supper was served from an attractively decorated sideboard, and a centrepiece of yellow flowers was flanked with yellow tapers. The committee responsible for the enjoyable evening was Miss Helen Peden (convener), Mrs. F. Dunn, Miss P. Pendray and Miss Valerie Kearton.

On Sunday afternoon a work party composed of members of the Solarium Junior League and the Kinsmen Club worked on the grounds of the Kinsmen-Solarium Gift House. The house is now completed and next month the furnishings will be installed.

Pot Roast, Plus

The colder the weather the more your family will like this spicy pot roast of beef

Our 'hint' for this week introduces one of the most useful tricks in the cook's repertoire. That of the marinade or "steeping sauce."

Many of the less popular cuts of meat can be given unusual and attractive flavours by soaking them in such a sauce.

Try the marinade given in the panel with a pot roast of beef . . . a 4 lb. beef rump or chuck . . . prepare the meat as directed and let stand, covered, in cool place for 2 hours or more. Pour off liquid and save. Rub meat with mustard and brown in hot fat. Add the spiced mixture. Cover and cook slowly, adding hot water as needed for 3 to 3½ hours. Vegetables (onions, carrots, celery, etc.) may be added just long enough before serving to ensure tenderness.

Reid and Miss Joyce Ostler, acted as matron of honor and bridesmaid respectively carrying arm bouquets of pink carnations and snapdragons. Flower girl, attired in floor-length gown of pale yellow lace over taffeta, was a niece of the bride, Sharon Joan Reid, whose colonial bouquet was one of pastel posies. The groomsman was Robert L. Fletcher and ushers were Henry A. Stross and Ronald R. Bissenden.

Organ music was provided by Mr. Stathan, and Miss "Babs" Hawkes sang "Because" while the register was being signed. Wrens "At Home" At Barracks

Commander Adelaide Sinclair, director of W.R.C.N.S., was guest of honor when local Wrens entertained on Sunday afternoon in their new barracks at Esquimalt, the former Coach and Horses. Sharing honors with the director were many Victoria hostesses who have extended their hospitality to the navy girls.

Lieut. Allan, unit officer of the barracks, welcomed visitors, and Wrens were eager and interested guides, conducting the guests through the barracks.

The large recreation room where visitors gathered was bright with a cheery, crackling log fire. Wardrooms were inspected and admired, and suitable furnishings were noticed for quarters provided for officers, also messes for petty officers, leading Wrens and ratings.

The galley was another point of interest, and the white-capped cooks displayed the modern equipment, including a mammoth Frigidaire, dish washers, bread slicers, automatic potato peelers.

Cubicles containing eight bunks each constituted quarters.

Routine was observed, and visitors saw Wrens on duty checking in and out at the regulating board.

MINCE PIE

Here is an appurtenance of the Christmas season we can really put our teeth into.

That is to say, no digging into obscure tomes, no speculation and surmise, no building up of association between pagan ancient and Christian modern.

The mince pie, in other words, is directly tied to the religious observance of Christmas, for its toothsome filling of sweets and spices stands for the presentations made to the infant Christ by the wise men, when, "opening their treasures, they offered unto Him gifts, gold, frankincense and myrrh."

During the Middle Ages there would be placed upon the festive board a huge mince pie, cradle-shaped, symbolic of the manger at Bethlehem.

Profit Unchanged

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP).—The General Electric Company reported to stockholders today renegotiation of its $1,000,000,000 1942 business had resulted in payment to the United States Government of $7,603,612 from reserves provided for the purpose and left net profits unchanged.

Actually $76,036,123 was trimmed from contracts involved, the company said, but resultant reduction of profits decreased tax liabilities $68,432,511, or 90 per cent of the amount shaved from original prices.

The renegotiation, by the Navy Price Adjustment Board, had the effect of cutting the company's post-war tax refund for the year to $10,156,749 from a previously estimated $17,000,000. Payment of the $7,603,612 to the Government from this balance left the year's reserve for postwar adjustment and contingencies at $2,553,137. Net income for 1942 was $45,081,000.

Awake my soul, stretch every nerve and press with vigor on.

RIO THEATRE Nine of the old sour-dough "types" seen in the mob sequences in Universal's "The Spoilers," now at the Rio Theatre, co-starring Marlene Dietrich, Randolph Scott and John Wayne, are veterans of the original filming of the Rex Beach novel in 1914.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES Nelson Eddy, Susanna Foster and Edgar Barrier give colorful portrayals in Universal's Technicolor thrill-drama, "Phantom of the Opera," showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Claude Rains, as the sinister "Phantom," is co-starred with Eddy and Miss Foster.

ATLAS THEATRE Reunited for the first time since they appeared together in "Rhythm on the River," Bing Crosby and Mary Martin are merry musical and romantic partners again in Paramount's "Birth of the Blues," which ends tonight at the Atlas Theatre. Brian Donlevy, Carolyn Lee, Jack Teagarden and Rochester have the principal roles in the picture.

CADET THEATRE M-G-M's "Assignment in Brittany" brings Helen MacInnes' popular novel to vivid life in a thrilling story of espionage, an amazing masquerade and a tender romance at the Cadet Theatre, where it is now playing. It serves to introduce to American screen audiences Pierre Aumont, brilliant French actor.

CAPITOL THEATRE Jean Arthur portrays the "lady" and John Wayne co-stars with her as the "chance" she takes in RKO Radio's hilarious new romantic comedy, "A Lady Takes a Chance," now at the Capitol Theatre. Charles Winninger, Phil Silvers, Mary Field and Don Costello are also cast in the gay and laughter-filled picture.

He who derives the advantage ought also to sustain the burden.

"The Oklahoma Kid" Being Held Over

Warner Bros.' filmization of a famous Western story, "The Oklahoma Kid" is being held over at the Dominion Theatre.

The great popularity that accrued to Jimmy Cagney following his appearance in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and the zoom to stellar heights that followed Bogart's roles in "Casablanca" and "Action in the North Atlantic" prompted Warners to reissue this screen offering which co-stars both.

In "The Oklahoma Kid" Cagney is cast as a lovable outlaw in the Robin Hood tradition, who gives up his devil-may-care-existence when his father is killed by a gang of gunmen.

What Today Means

"CAPRICORN"

If January 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

Much may depend on your permitting good or bad habits to rule you today as to whether or not you will get through it in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. You will have to keep your mind cleared of peculiar ideas if you wish to refrain from forming some very wrong impressions that might result in your doing a good deal of erroneous reasoning. You must make sure that your conclusions are predicted on facts not assumptions. There will be a world of useful information available for those who are wise enough to keep their ears opened on this date. Conditions are conducive for many a well-meaning person to get their fingers burned through volunteering to pull someone else's chestnuts out of the fire, so if you are wise you will confine your activities to attending strictly to your own affairs, especially if you are married, engaged, or deeply in love.

If a woman and January 11 is your birthday, never make the mistake of thinking you have a special privilege for saying or doing anything that your heart desires, if you would save yourself from having your feelings hurt. You may have to learn to adjust yourself to many radical changes, especially if you have any dealings with subordinates. You cannot afford to close your eyes to the fact you are entering a period of economic reconstruction, and it is now wise for you to try to ignore it. Through activity as an instructress, lecturer, writer, singer, business manager, musician, interior decorator, designer, or doing your part to back up the men on the fighting fronts, you may win widespread recognition and financial security. Auspicious conditions appear to surround your matrimonial affairs.

The child born on January 11 is generally a basically sound, energetic youngster, who seems to be destined to be very popular and successful in all of its undertakings. Children born under this zodiacal sign crave affection, and repay it with their love and devotion.

If a man and January 11 is your natal day, you can never afford to be too busy to be polite to everyone. Your ultimate success may depend on the treatment you accord your daily associates. You will be greatly helped if you will always remember that "he who sows courtesy reaps friendship, and he who plants kindness gathers love." As a scientist, educator, business executive, soldier, sailor, aviator, lawyer, doctor, clergyman, skilled mechanic, agriculturist, horticulturist, explorer, musician, artist, inventor, engineer or contractor, you should have no difficulty in attaining an enviable position in whatever line of endeavor you engage.

Jack Miner's Birds In Magazine Story

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 10.—Jack Miner, the Canadian naturalist, who has ranked as Canada's best-known private citizen for seven years in succession, has rolled up another honor in his career by being written up in an article by the famous writer, John Burton Tigrest, which has been accepted by The Saturday Evening Post and which is to appear in an early issue.

The story deals with Jack Miner's activities with special stress on his conservation efforts of bird life, which benefit both Canada and the United States. There are several paragraphs dealing with his methods of banding the birds to study their migration routes, each band having a verse of Scripture. The entire biography will be profusely illustrated throughout with colored photographs.

Very few Canadian achievements have been written up in The Saturday Evening Post. The Jack Miner story is illustrated with photos taken during the past few days at the world-famous Bird Haven at Kingsville, Ont.

Interior steadiness is the natural effect of a confident faith.

WORTHINGTON WORRIED

VANCOUVER, Jan. 10 (CP).—Ald. G. H. Worthington told a Social Aid committee meeting today that "influx of Prairie people, a lot of whom are sick both mentally and physically, is overtaxing municipal social assistance services."

Increasing shortage of beds for active tuberculosis cases in Greater Vancouver area was reported by W. R. Bone, department head.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE DAY'S ROUND-UP

See where the Pacific Coast Hockey League has withdrawn from the Allan Cup series for this season. There was nothing else for the officials to do but withdraw. The league couldn't carry on any other way and keep the interest alive. Winners of the circuit are permitted to challenge for the cup and the Canadian senior hockey honors, if they wish, according to the latest ruling. However, the question remains, what will happen if the Air Force or the Army capture the league title. They have been already told that they must forgo the coveted "mug" no matter what happens . . . The team to watch out for in this province is the Trail Smoke-Eaters. During the challenge series with Currie Barracks the Interior club made the high-powered Prairie stickhandlers look sort of silly at times. The Smoke-Eaters won two of the three games by fair margins and the chips were down all the time . . . Bill Patton, former scribe on this paper, dropped into the sports room last night to say good-bye. He is off to Ottawa to take up another course in the Royal Canadian Navy. Bill has certainly gone ahead since leaving this paper and, if this war lasts much longer, he will come back into port with the rank of an admiral, or something like that . . . The Canadiens from Montreal just cannot be stopped. On Sunday they won from the Rangers again to maintain their lead in the race for the N.H.L. championship . . . Jack McLeod, who is in the hospital with a broken leg, the result of the last hockey game the Navy played, will probably never step on the ice again. From all reports we gathered over the week-end, Mr. McLeod has a double fracture and may be forced to the sidelines for good. If that's the case, it's too bad for he is a fine fellow, a good hockey player and a swell sport.

CANADIENS HAVE STRONG CLUB

It is an axiom that no goalie is any stronger than his defence and back-checking forwards. Durnan, a gifted goalie, is doubly blessed.

In Harmon and McMahon in particular he has two players who are adept at clearing. They know what to do with loose pucks. They get them away in the Clancy fashion, as quick as possible.

In Lach he has the best two-way forward in the league operating in front of him. Lest we be accused of exaggeration on this score, we can bring evidence of teammates and opponents in support, as well as the considered opinion of other coaches.

Lach is a fast forward, he is a great man down the middle, a fine carrier and above all he is one of the most unselfish players in the game. He comes back fast and at times fiercely. Watson is much of the same type. Watson breaks up many plays. O'Connor comes back fast, too; while Chamberlain and Getliffe are strong on the comeback along with Blake.

This is the best back-checking team Canadiens have had since their big days.

It is this balanced game which is making Canadiens great. So great that those who delve into such matters are speculating on how they would have stood up against the Krauty Bostonians, garnished with Roy Conacher and Brimsek.

"Undoubtedly right with them," asserts T. P. Gorman with emphasis, gestures and a leap to two adjoining chairs.

"They would be top flight in any of the last five years," says Irvin more thoughtfully, but with no less haste.

Canadiens considered their way to success in recent years was due to spotty goaling. Now they are getting the Hainsworth brand, the pure quill stuff from an artisan who hasn't had one bad night in 22. Even Brimsek didn't do better than that.

Ranger fans might ask how they would look against the inspired Colville's and Shibicky, with Watson on the other side of the fence, teamed up with Hextall and Lynn Patrick.

Canadiens have two lines now that would do very well indeed against those boys. Besides those rompers wouldn't look as good against this Canuck defence as they did against some others.

HARDEST MAN IN THE LEAGUE

You can take the word of Ray Getliffe that Mike McMahon is the hardest man in the league to get by. Mike leans on forwards coming. Once they pick up that kind of weight it is amazing how they sag.

Bouchard can hit a teeth-rattling body check. He is a strong fellow, a regular Hercules. He has finally matured into a really good defenceman. It was a slow process but he stands out today as an Irvin-developed product.

The Krauts, the Rangers, the Rampant Red Wings, would not have been taking the same liberties with the Canuck defence that they did in the past when it was an unbalanced formation composed mostly of three green rookies and Jack Portland, who was an unpredictable type alternately brilliant and routine. The Krauts and the rest worked against spotty goaltending whenever they hooked up against Canucks.

Leafs followers are inclined to sniff and ask where Canadiens would have landed with Apps and Co. operating against them, with Carr, Taylor and Schriner in high gear.

You can rebut that by asking what Taylor had that Buddy hasn't got? A saw-off for the most part. Apps was great and spectacular, of course, but he could be offset by a player like Lach.

Canadiens Beat Patrick's Clan

Montrealers Continue Fast Pace in League—Bill Cowley Badly Injured

	W.	L.	D.	Goals F.	Goals A.	P.
Canadiens	20	2	3	125	54	43
Toronto	14	11	2	126	104	30
Boston	12	10	4	128	127	28
Detroit	9	11	4	86	97	22
Chicago	10	15	0	94	112	20
Rangers	4	20	1	83	143	9

Symptomatic both of Montreal superiority and the inferiority of their opposition is the fact that Toronto Maple Leafs appear the only club capable of catching Canadiens before the National Hockey League schedule ends in March.

They'd probably have to do it with mirrors, at that, because injuries to Bob Davidson and Mel Hill have stripped Leafs down to four N.H.L. veterans in Reg Hamilton, Lorne Carr and Paul Bibeault, a Montreal cast-off. Still, if it can be done, Leafs are the team to do it. The other clubs are too far back to have anything but an academic interest in the question.

Leafs slipped into undisputed possession of the runner-up spot Saturday by routing Boston Bruins, their chief rivals for the berth, 12-3 before 11,000 home fans. More than that, they unwittingly became the instrument in removing Bill Cowley for at least a month. Checked by Jack McLean early in the third period, the 30-year-old Boston centre star crashed into the boards and suffered a shoulder separation, third serious injury of his big-time career, which started in 1934-35 with the St. Louis Eagles.

The loss of the league's outstanding play-maker not only leaves the Bruins in the position of an automobile without a steering wheel, but also cheats Cowley of a chance to shatter the modern scoring mark of 73 points, set by Ralph "Cooney" Weiland, of Bruins, in 1929-30, and equaled last season by Doug Bentley, of Chicago Black Hawks. Up to Saturday, Cowley had accumulated 52 points (19 goals, 33 assists) in 25 of the 50 games Boston will play.

DETROIT WINGS BEAT THE HAWKS

In other games during the National Hockey League's eleventh week-end of competition, Detroit Red Wings mastered Chicago Black Hawks, 4-2, on Sunday to snap their fourth-place tie with Hawks, while Canadiens assaulted New York Rangers twice, 8-2, in Montreal on Saturday and 6-5 in New York on Sunday, to increase their league lead to 13 points and their current victory string to nine games.

Goals by Mud Bruneteau, Carl Liscombe, Hal Jackson and Syd Howe gave Wings their victory over Hawks, who relied upon Doug Bentley for both their scores. The game, which marked the return of Mike Karakas to the Chicago nets, also left the Hawks without a victory on Detroit ice in 16 games since 1940.

Mike McMahon and Toe Blake, with two goals apiece, featured Montreal's home-ice victory against Rangers, but the tail-enders threw a scare into the Habitants at New York as Dutch Hiller scored three goals against his former teammates.

Despite Hiller's efforts, two goals apiece by Murph Chamberlain and Ray Getliffe spurred Canadiens to their one-goal verdict, sending the Rangers down to their fifth straight defeat and their twentieth in 25 games.

George Boothman scored three goals at Toronto on Saturday as Leafs staged their sharpest offensive display of the season with 26 scoring points, while three other Toronto youngsters—Gus Bodnar, Jack Ingoldsby and Jackie Hamilton—collected two apiece. But the brightest Toronto star was Defenceman Babe Pratt, who set about 50 per cent of the Toronto attacks in motion and received five assists on the night.

Down for the Count in Sensational Knockout

Fritzie Zivic, former welterweight champion, stands over fallen opponent Ossie Harris, fellow Pittsburgher, after dropping him for the full count in sensational knockout with two seconds left to go in the tenth and final round at Pittsburgh, Pa. Referee Ernie Sesto is the third man in the ring. Fritzie dropped Ossie for an eight count previous to the K.O. in this round.

Out of Ice Series

NANAIMO, Jan. 10 (CP).—President Jack Ryan of the Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League announced tonight the league has withdrawn from Allan Cup competition but added that any team in the circuit could challenge for the cup when the play-offs begin.

Mr. Ryan reported that word has been received from Defence Headquarters at Ottawa that Nanaimo Army Commanders could complete the regular schedule but could not participate in any play-offs.

The league president said he does not know how that ruling will be affected by tonight's announcement that army teams may play only in garrison leagues or against teams of the other services in the same area.

Before Sea Island R.C.A.F. Seahawks were withdrawn from the league in line with Air Force Headquarters instructions, an attempt was made to have all teams renounce Allan Cup ambitions and thus allow Seahawks to continue. However, one of the six teams refused and headquarters was not asked to allow Seahawks to remain in the loop.

Under the latest interpretation by Ryan, the league could withdraw from Allan Cup competition thus possibly allowing R.C.A.F. and the Army to continue, and any team in the league would still be in the position to challenge and thus keep alive hopes for the Canadian senior title.

The air force ruling put Seahawks out of the league and four airmen were prevented from continuing with Vancouver St. Regis. If Army cannot play under the latest Ottawa ruling despite the no-Allan-Cup setup, the league would lose Nanaimo along with several soldiers playing for Victoria Machinery Depot.

ARMY CLUBS—OUT OF SERIES

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP).—Announcement by Defence Headquarters tonight that army hockey teams and players henceforth may not participate in hockey games which might lead to championship play-offs places them in the same position as R.C.A.F. teams and players, banned by an air force ruling of January 5 from engaging after that date in anything but garrison and defence loop competition.

The army's hockey policy previously had been interpreted as permitting army teams and players to continue competition in their present leagues but forbidding them from entering Allan and Memorial Cup playdowns.

Tonight's ruling prohibits officers or soldiers of the Active Army from playing in any organized leagues whose championship would qualify them to play off for the Allan Cup or the Memorial Cup.

Like the R.C.A.F., however, army teams are permitted to play intermural games in local garrison leagues, and they may also play exhibition games against teams of the other services, providing these are within the same geographical boundaries as the command or district to which the army team belongs.

Under tonight's army ruling, civilian clubs in quest of either the Allan or the Memorial Cup will lose their service players.

The army's hockey policy was based upon the consideration that participation in hockey or any other sport could not be allowed to delay "the complete and earliest training" of every soldier for dispatch overseas.

Army personnel, said a headquarters statement of January 7, "being either in training or in readiness to proceed overseas, cannot engage in any activity which might take them away from their station for a period of time which would be necessary if they became eligible for cup playdowns."

Famous Canadian Gridiron Star On Missing List

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP).—F.O. Anthony (Tony) Golab, 25, who starred for several seasons with Ottawa Rough Riders, has been reported missing on active service with the R.C.A.F. overseas, his wife was notified tonight.

Golab, born in Windsor, Ont., played for Sarnia Imperials in the Ontario Rugby Football Union before joining the Rough Riders in 1939.

Under the guidance of Coach Ross Trimble he developed into a strong forward-passing and defensive star, and was noted as a driving plunger. With Riders he played on three Eastern Canadian championship teams.

In 1941 he was named "athlete of the year" in The Canadian Press sports poll. Golab joined the air force in 1941, and later was commissioned a pilot officer. He arrived overseas about a year ago.

Last July a Sicilian dispatch from Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, mentioned that Golab was flying out of Malta and had been on operations over Sicily. In August, while stationed in Sicily, he was promoted to flying officer.

Soldiers, Sailors Score Easy Wins

Commanders Trim Lodestars by Half a Dozen Goals—Navy Whips St. Regis, 6-2

LEAGUE STANDING

R.C.A.F.	10	2	2	85	56	22
Army	9	8	0	89	67	18

C.P.A.L.	3	8	2	52	74	8
St. Regis	3	13	1	59	97	7

Last night's scores:
Navy 6, St. Regis 2.
Army 8, C.P.A.L. 2.

Led by their "ace" goal sniper, Hal Brown, Coach Andy Anton's Navy pucksters ran roughshod over the cellar berth St. Regis club from the Mainland, trimming them by a score of 6-2 in a Pacific Coast League game played at the Willows Arena last night before a slim crowd. Brown, besides scoring half of the bluejackets' goals, earned himself an assist on the opening marker, scored by the cagey veteran Joe MacArthur, who came next in line in scoring with a brace of goals. Murdo MacKay was the other goal-getter for the tars. For the hotelmen, scorers were Larry Kwong, the Chinese Clipper, and Mel Neilson.

Holding a 5-to-0 lead up until a little over eight minutes gone in the final frame, Charlie Rayner, who played his usual stellar game in the Navy net, looked like he was in for his second shutout of the season, but a loose puck picked up by Mel Neilson from in front of the Navy goal which his defence failed to clear spoiled all his chances of securing no-score game. However, while not having as much to do as Percy Jackson at the other end, he turned aside some shots that were well labeled. All goals scored against Jackson were of the well-earned variety and had the veteran not been on his toes the score would have been a lot bigger, as his mates up forward were no match for the fast and smart attack of the boys in blue.

Minus several of their star players under recent R.C.A.F. regulations governing hockey participation, the Saints looked a lot weaker than the team that beat the V.M.D. club here about a month back. They did come to life a little in the last 20 minutes, but what anxious moments they gave the sailors matched them.

Coach Anton was forced to dress his two injured players, Jack Tomson and Charlie Kraeger, when Jack MacLeod received a bad fractured leg in the game against the C.P.A.L. last Saturday night at New Westminster. Kraeger, playing his first game on the rearguard and despite a bad leg, turned in a good performance. Ab Newsome, former Edmonton junior star, was also used sparingly on the right wing position for the first time on local ice.

Although beaten by four goals the Mainlanders never quit trying and that second goal scored by Kwong was one of the nicest of the game. With Defenceman Leo Reise sitting in the cooler for the third time of the game, Kwong picked up a nice relay pass on power attack from Romeo Martel and Bill Hutton and made no mistake by beating Rayner from close in. The previous penalty for Reise at the 7:27 mark saw the Saints power play back-fired and Joe MacArthur went in on Jackson, taking the disc from his own blue line and rang goal No. 5. Shortly after the game got under way, Lude Palm was right in on Rayner but the latter pulled off a miraculous save. Seven penalties were handed out, five to the Navy and two to the visitors, both going to Phil Andrejkew.

COMMANDERS BEAT LODESTARS

VANCOUVER, Jan. 10 (CP).—Nanaimo Army Commanders walloped New Westminster Lodestars, 8-2, here tonight in a Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League game. Under a Defence Department ruling, it was Army's last league game.

Gnr. Sam Kennedy, Cadet Dave MacKay and Gnr. Amy Dufault each tallied twice for the soldiers and Gnr. Pinky Melnyk and Gnr. Julian Sawchuk each got one goal. Lodestar snipers were Shorty Coombes and Ed Trosvick.

A crowd of about 2,600 fans saw the soldiers go ahead, 4-0, in the first period and increase the margin to 7-0 by the end of the second. New Westminster, winners over Esquimalt Navy, Saturday, counted twice in the third before Nanaimo completed the scoring to make the final count, 8-2.

Pete Leswick, tricky Lodestar forward, was awarded a penalty shot in the first period, but he failed to make good with the free drive.

Kennedy by getting two goals and one assist increased his margin at the top of the league point-makers and now has 22 goals and nine assists for 31 points.

DRAMATIC criticism comes in many forms, from the scholarly essay which occupies two or three columns to the terse comment of the Denver critic who wrote: "Camille played here last night. Burn a rag." There was also the noted French critic who was noticed sleeping peacefully through a much publicized performance. Asked by an indignant friend of the author how he expected to give a rational criticism while he slept, he replied calmly, "Sleep is an opinion." Much more recently, as they were leaving a theatre, two friends met, and one asked the other what he thought of the play. He replied: "I thought it was uplifting, and pointed a fine moral. Really it was a most wholesome play." "Yeah," replied the other, "I didn't think much of it either."

Plans for Rugby Game

Officials Preparing For Cup Play-Off

The most important matter discussed at the Victoria Rugby meeting last evening was the coming battle between the Army and Varsity fifteens which is to take place at MacDonald Park, Saturday, at 2:30.

It is expected the O.C. Army will kick off, and the Garrison Band under Bandmaster Bower will be in attendance. Added to this, Sid Thomas will be the announcer, as was the case during the McKechnie Cup games. Public announcing of the play during the game has proved to be very popular with those who like to know just what players are making smart plays.

Varsity are out to do or die in this game and promise to make the game very interesting. Having done well in their club games on the Mainland they figure they can make the play interesting for the strong Army fifteen.

It was definitely decided at the meeting to start the Cowichan Cup games on January 22, the draw will be made later during the week.

It is hoped the Army and Navy annual duel will take place early in February.

A meeting between the leaders of the new intermediate league will be held in the Central Building at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening. It is hoped all who are interested will attend.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Despite the fact 42 goals were scored in four National Hockey League games during the week-end, no one changed places in hockey's Big Seven. Boston's Bill Cowley and Herb Cain, who head the list with 52 and 44 points, respectively, did not earn any points, while the other players picked up a few—but not enough to change their positions.

McSpaden Tops Field

Captures Open Golf By Three Strokes

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 (CP).—Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Philadelphia, today captured the United States richest golf championship, the $12,500 Los Angeles Open, with a 72-hole score of 278.

Finishing the last 18-hole round on the Wilshire Country Club course with a blistering 66, McSpaden established a new low 72-hole score for the championship on this course. The best previously was the 281 in 1933 by Craig Wood, national champion for the duration.

Johnny Bulla, of Atlanta, the Los Angeles Open winner in 1941, finished in second place with a 281. He took a par 71 for his final round after starting it in a 54-hole first-place tie with Leonard Dodson, of La Jolla, Cal. Dodson wound up in a tie at 283 with Craig Wood and Byron Nelson, of Toledo.

Dodson played in a threesome with McSpaden and Olin Dutra, of Los Angeles, and the pace was too stiff for him. The veteran Willie Hunter, of Santa Monica, Cal., finished with 284, followed by Dutra with 285.

McSpaden's five-under-par performance today was one of the two best rounds of the championship. Sammy Byrd of Detroit also bagged a 66 in the first round.

Currie in Keen Win

Barracks Defeat Red Deer Squad

CALGARY, Jan. 10 (CP).—A second-period outburst which accounted for three goals in just 49 seconds, proved the margin of victory for A-16 Currie over Red Deer Army Wheelers and Currie emerged with a 4-2 triumph in an Alberta Senior Services League game at the Arena here. Kept in check by the superlative netminding of Pte. Sugar Jim Henry in the Red Deer nets in the first and third periods, Currie took advantage of a momentary let-down on the part of the Wheelers' defence in the second session to come from a goal deficit to a two-goal lead in less than a minute and added another counter before the period was over. A crowd of 3,000 was on hand for the thrilling display.

Pte. Eddie O'Keefe and Sgt. Riley Mullen counted for Red Deer in the first and third periods, while Currie goals were scored by Cpl. Walter Rimstad (2), Pte. Rex Bentley and Pte. Max Bentley, all coming in the second period.

First Period—1, Red Deer, O'Keefe (Pargeter), 5:14. Penalty: Colville.

Go In House as Prisoners, Come Out Again as Captors

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Jan. 10 (CP).—Captured in street fighting for the Adriatic coast town of Ortona late in December, 15 Canadian soldiers were released by a patrol from their own battalion after several harrowing hours in a house with the Germans.

The enemy, commanded by a youthful paratroop lieutenant, treated the Canadians well and when the tables were turned by the arrival of the patrol, surrendered their weapons and left the house as prisoners of their erstwhile captives.

C.S.M. John Elaschuk, of Turin, Alta., pieced together the story as he enjoyed a rest at company headquarters. Elaschuk, promoted from sergeant only Saturday, was getting his first respite from forward company duties since the Canadians entered the Mediterranean fighting.

"An hour after Christmas dinner we went back into action and during the night took out two sniper posts," said the slim N.C.O.

"At about 6 a.m., after we had consolidated our positions, about 32 Germans moved in on us and captured our flanking section."

Elaschuk had a rendezvous with the corporal in charge of this section and, not knowing he was a prisoner, made his way through holes in buildings to the appointed spot. Pte. Wilfrid Haimes, of Vancouver, was with him, following a few yards behind.

"I crossed the yard and went through the gate to join a group of men I thought were the corporal's section and the first thing I knew three German automatics and a machine gun were pointing right at me," Elaschuk said.

FINDS OTHERS ALREADY HELD

They led him to a house where the other Canadians already were being held prisoner. The soldiers there included Cpls. Alex Ray, Vancouver; T. R. Plant, Calgary; Ptes. Stan Simon, Creston, B.C.; George Cunningham, Joussard, Alta., and V. A. Murphy, Vancouver.

There were twice as many Germans in the building as Canadians and only two loaves of bread. The only order was that the men keep quiet and muffle their coughs.

None of the Germans was more than 24 and Elaschuk said one of them was "not a day over 17." Their officer, who spoke French and English, was about 20.

The Germans tried hard to pump information from the Canadians, using indirect methods which had little effect on the wary Westerners.

The number of Canadian prisoners, only seven or eight at the start, increased to 15 as it became lighter. When Elaschuk was captured, two Germans had taken Haimes to another house and asked him where his section was quartered.

"I told them I didn't know," said Haimes. "After they had finished with me they took me back to the street. We passed a house and one German wanted to throw a grenade through the door, but the other stopped him, shone a flashlight in instead.

"Just then a gramophone in the house started playing (it was a record from the opera 'Carmen') and the door opened. A corporal came out and the German grabbed him. Then they went in and brought out the others."

FIFTEEN IN ONE SMALL ROOM

The Canadians were brought together in the same house and 15 were in one small room with a guard which varied from six to eight Germans. Other enemy troops were in upstairs rooms overlooking the street.

"About 12:30 p.m., the Canadians went into the attack and were coming close to our building," Elaschuk said. "The officer took me aside and told me all the men must keep very quiet.

"Then he went upstairs, and as soon as he had gone the six Germans in the room turned their weapons over to me—all but the youngest, who held on to his automatic until a Jerry sergeant-major took it away from him."

Things began to happen fast. The Canadians in the street let loose everything they had at the house, and Elaschuk said, "All you could see in the room was feet flying as the Jerry soldiers tried to get away from the firing."

Elaschuk and the other Canadians started shouting and only their yells prevented them from being mortared. Some of the prisoners and the Germans, who by this time were prisoners of the Canadians, started across the street. The Germans upstairs opened fire, killing a Canadian and wounding the German sergeant-major.

The German officer came downstairs to surrender and a German upstairs fired after him wounding a Canadian Bren gunner. In the scramble which followed the officer was killed.

It was not very clear what happened after that for, said Elaschuk, "it was just a case of Germans and Canadians scrambling from one building to another until we reached our headquarters."

"The Jerries were just as anxious to get away from that place as we were and they were genuinely glad to be our prisoners."

Before the afternoon ended 20 prisoners had been brought in and four Germans killed. Elaschuk returned to action that night and helped to round up the eight men of the original 32. Three of them were killed and the other five taken prisoner.

Take Books for New "G" Coupons

Mothers using "G" coupons to purchase evaporated milk, who apply for a renewal at W.P.T.B. offices should take their ration books with them, as officials must endorse the books whenever they issue "G" coupons, the Victoria ration officer pointed out Monday.

"G" coupons originally issued were for three months only, and it is necessary for mothers to apply for a renewal. Each time these special coupons are issued the fact is noted on the baby ration book.

Only infants under two years, whose formula requires the use of evaporated milk, may obtain the "G" coupons.

That Body of Yours

A POSSIBLE CURE FOR VITILIGO—WHITE PATCHES ON THE SKIN

One of the unusual and distressing skin ailments is leucoderma, vitiligo, or piebald skin. There are oval or irregular milk-white spots which may spread and form large patches. These patches are smooth, being level with the surrounding skin, which may be browner than normal because the pigment has gone from the light spots into surrounding skin. The disease may progress slowly and finally become an embarrassing disfigurement.

The cause has been unknown, although a couple of years ago a number of cases were found in workers who tanned leather. It was hoped that these cases might give a clue to the cause of vitiligo. Treatment up to the present has been the use of a coloring substance which matched the skin surrounding the spots. A few cases were reported cured by the use of thyroid extract.

That some gland deficiency may be the cause of vitiligo is reported by Drs. J. C. M. Fournier, J. M. Cervino and O. Conti, in The Journal of Clinical Endocrinology, Springfield, Ill.

The fact that the pituitary gland, lying on the floor of the skull, produces a brownish hormone and that a change in the pigment occurs when not enough or too much pituitary hormone is being manufactured, led these physicians to investigate the possible effect of treatment of this hormone in 11 cases of vitiligo.

Treatment was started by giving 400 frog units twice a week. There was a striking reduction in the size of the white spots on the skin and the treatment was successful in eight of the 11 cases.

One patient was given fresh bovine pituitary hormone by mouth; nine others were given a purified extract of the hormone on the spots or by hypodermic injections. The hormone entered the blood and improved spots at considerable distance from where injections were given.

Improvement was more rapid and was of a greater degree in the patches which had appeared recently. Satisfactory results were obtained, however, in cases of vitiligo of ten years' standing.

Now, 11 cases are not many, but eight of 11 cases cured is a large percentage.

Further, as there has never been a "cure" for vitiligo, the fact that pituitary hormone has a part in the formation or control of skin pigment or color should cause other research workers to further investigate this mysterious skin disease.

To Be Candidate?

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP).—Reports circulated among supporters of Wendell L. Willkie tonight that the 1940 Republican presidential nominee will formally announce his candidacy for the 1944 nomination within the next two weeks and open campaign headquarters in New York City. Ralph H. Cake, Oregon National Committee member, is expected to be in charge of the headquarters and to manage Willkie's preconvention campaign.

Bob Wiest, Bomber centre, was the game's leading point-getter with four goals and an assist. Freddy Bowman and Walt Cunningham each scored twice, and Jimmy Skinner, Jim Mills and Bill Cairns once. Syd Brown had four assists.

AGAINST SECESSION

Ward 5 Cordova Bay Ratepayers' Association, meeting recently at McMorran's Hall, voted unanimously against secession. H. C. Oldfield and C. C. T. Gaskell, advocates of secession of Wards 5 and 6, answered questions put by K. M. Lewis, following which the meeting passed its anti-secession resolution, which was moved by K. R. Genn and seconded by Harold Gorse.

MR. B. knew where he could get more than his share of scarce goods—at a price. He thought he was very clever—and a bit romantic—when he bought rationed commodities on the sly. Actually Mr. B. was helping the war effort . . . Hitler's war effort. He did not stop to think that his purchases on the black market were shots in the back to the armed forces of Canada. He did not stop to think that his black market purchases, multiplied by the purchases of thousands of other Mr. B.'s cause shortages and serious marketing situations which might help to lengthen the war. He did Hitler's work because he did not stop to think. Poor Mr. B.! If only he had pledged himself to buy War Savings Stamps and Victory Bonds to the limit of his ability he couldn't have afforded to deal on the black market.

Farm Problems Under Review

Resolutions and problems affecting farmers in British Columbia were discussed with the Department of Agriculture yesterday by ten members of the advisory board of Farmers' Institutes, who were invited here by Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture.

[illegible] ichton, Vancouver Island and Gulf Islands; C. J. Killer, Telkwa, Skeena and Bulkley Valley; R. Blackburn, Prince George, Nechako; William Harrison, Pritchard, Kamloops; A. H. Peppar, Loco, Lower Fraser Valley; O. B. Appleton, Nelson, West Kootenay; J. Woodburn, Salmon Arm, Shushwap and Okanagan; W. Hogg (chairman), Cariboo; T. Cameron, Cranbrook, East Kootenay, and T. Others present at the conference included Dr. MacDonald; J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture; W. H. Robertson, chief horticulturist; Dr. Wallace R. Gunn, livestock commissioner; Jerry R. Terry, poultry commissioner, and Cecil Tice, field crop commissioner.

In welcoming members of the board, Dr. MacDonald referred to the recent conference of agricultural leaders at Ottawa. In his opinion the agricultural outlook throughout Canada "was not altogether pleasing." Mr. Munro hoped that deliberations of the board would prove fruitful as in the past.

EMERGENCY LABOR FOR FARMS IS DISCUSSED

William McGillivray, director of the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Board, stated his organization would be in the field early this year in an endeavor to provide sufficient labor for farmers. Richard Painter, Lethbridge, Federal entomologist in charge of warble fly control, dealt with control of the pest in British Columbia.

A resolution approved by the advisory board proposed that: "In the case of an animal creating a nuisance, some method should be used, whereby the owner could take such animals into custody, and that animals running at large on public roads should be taken in by their owner, during Winter months, especially at nights."

A second resolution read: "Be it resolved the Provincial Government be requested to supply Brucellosis vaccine for the control of Bang's disease to the veterinarian free of charge," and a third, "That a parity or equalization between farm and industrial labor wages be evolved and put into effect. A farm wage subsidy is suggested."

Further resolutions were: "That at least one farmer be put on all boards, dealing with agricultural products and farm conditions"; "That the Federal Department of Agriculture be requested to pay the subventions on fertilizer for all crops"; "That present freight rate benefits be granted to shippers of British Columbia produced grain, within the province to other points within the province"; "That the Provincial Department of Agriculture be asked to use its influence to bring about legislation to allow a free freight policy to apply to home grown grains moving within the province"; "That the Provincial Government provide bulldozing equipment in respect to suitable agricultural Crown lands now frozen for the prospective use of war veterans during the postwar period and for future stability of Vancouver Island's farm products requirements."

SUGGEST BULLDOZER BE MADE AVAILABLE

"That the Government be approached to install a large bulldozer for hire in districts where sufficient acreage may be obtained to justify moving to and from the district"; "That the Government be asked to make available land-clearing machinery where feasible, the farmer to pay operator's wages and for fuel used"; "That some provision be made for setting up of districts in which the treatment of cattle for warble fly would be compulsory if this is desired by 66 per cent of the settlers"; "That the creamery at Vanderhoof be reopened."

"That farmers be given the benefit of a bonus of $2 per ton on ground limestone"; "That the Provincial Government be asked to introduce legislation to control hours of employment and conditions of juvenile labor in the agricultural industry"; "That the Provincial Government place into operation a scheme of assistance to farmers based upon a plan now in force in Quebec."

"That the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture collect all data relative to the difference in the price of farm machinery in Canada and the United States"; "That noxious weeds be cut along Government highways and railways before they ripen seeds"; "That a brand inspector should inspect all brands of impounded stock and notify the owner at once."

"That Vancouver Island be made a controlled area under a scheme set up under the Natural Products Marketing Act with the end in view of producers selling their dairy products through their own controlled organizations," and "That the retail price of milk should be based on the retail price on the Victoria market which is the highest on Vancouver Island, plus an additional sum to cover cost of transportation to and delivery in remote areas."

A large number of additional resolutions will be dealt with by the advisory board today.

Three Members Called to the Bar

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane paid tribute to the distinguished legal career of Sir Lyman Duff when he presided over the call and admission of new members to the bar in Supreme Court yesterday morning. Candidates were introduced by W. C. Moresby, K.C., treasurer of the Law Society of British Columbia.

Those called and admitted as solicitors were Herbert Derek Arnold, Vancouver; Albert Alma Nottingham, New Westminster, and William Kapak, Nelson.

"A little over 40 years ago, Sir Lyman Duff stood where you stand now, and in the roll you will find his name. His long and distinguished career, I think, may well suggest to you the possibility of the road on which you are today entering," Mr. Justice Macfarlane said.

Petty Thieves Busy at Week-End

Theft of a number of articles was reported to police of Greater Victoria over the week-end.

Peter Wolfe told city police that at 9:40 o'clock Sunday evening his room had been entered and his watch and chain valued at $37.30 and a quantity of clothing is missing.

Robert Barton, 950 Yates Street, reported theft of a 40-40 Martin rifle and 30 rounds of ammunition from his boat Spey, which is anchored at the Causeway float.

Janette Spong, Glen P.O., told police that her purse containing $2 and other valuables was stolen from her parked automobile on Yates Street.

Ten-year-old Phillips Foulkes, Glenahiel Hotel, reported to officers Sunday that another boy accosted him and took his purse containing $2.50 in cash and other items.

Chow Soon, 815 Princess Avenue, informed police that his home had been entered over the week-end. A watch valued at $30 and jewelry worth $60, chocolates, cigars and cigarettes were taken.

Jaggindar Singh, 743 Market Street, reported theft of a gasoline ration book some time Sunday night.

A brass and silver trumpet with fancy engraving in the bell, a revolver and wrist watch was reported stolen by the R.C.A.F.

Theft of a milking machine, electric motor and a quantity of tools was reported to Saanich police, also the loss of a cash box containing $300 in cash and cheques.

Laundry was stolen from the front steps of the home of Mrs. Bryant, 1923 Belmont, while the C.P.R. notified city police of the theft of a Gladstone bag containing $250 worth of clothing.

Will Use Other Coupons for Tea

Last two tea and coffee coupons, Nos. 28 and 29 in Ration Book No. 3, become due on January 27, but officials state that provision will be made for a change to other coupon sheets still unused in the No. 3 book, it was learned yesterday from the ration officer.

While enough coupons are provided in the book for other commodities, such as sugar, meat, butter and preserves, there is only one sheet of the green coupons, and these will be used by February 24. Ottawa has notified the Victoria office that provision will be made to use other coupons in the book for the purchase of tea and coffee.

It has been reported that some merchants have refused to issue preserves for "D" coupons from 1 to 10. This is a mistake, W.P.T.B. officials state, as "D" coupons are good until further notice up to and including No. 11.

Symphony to Survive If Naval Band Goes

If the R.C.N. Band, Esquimalt, leaves this week for an East Coast station as announced last week, Victoria Symphony Orchestra will be able to continue to function, officials of the orchestra stated last night.

Twenty-three of the orchestra's 45 players are from the Navy Band. Lieut.-Cmdr. H. G. Cuthbert, leader of the band, said last week.

Junior symphony players are in some cases sufficiently skilled to replace older men, S. J. D. Clack, of the orchestra committee, stated. A meeting of orchestra officials will be held next week.

The orchestra expects to give its next concert late in February or early in March.

The recent order that the Navy Band be "switched" with one from the East has been protested by R. W. Mayrew, M.P., and others.

Individuals Must Aid Returned Men

Emphasizing that rehabilitation was as much a matter for individuals as for governments, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., in an address at the Gyro Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel on Monday, declared that "by the measure of support" given to rehabilitation projects Canadians would show "how much they appreciate" the sacrifices of the men and women on service.

Rehabilitation measures were already being put into effect, Mrs. Hodges mentioned the work of A. McFarlane, of Victoria, special welfare officer, who was helping approximately 150 discharged men each month to re-establish themselves.

She spoke of the Dependents' Board of Trustees, set up to help the families of returned men in emergencies, which would pay hospital, optical, dental and funeral bills; help large families, and so on. Such help was in the form of grants, not loans. Over $100,000 had been expended already.

"It doesn't matter what governments do—in the final analysis it comes down to the individual to help our men over the difficult road of readjustment," Mrs. Hodges asserted.

Guests at the luncheon included Sgt. H. A. Goward, R.C.A.F., recently returned from overseas; Cpl. C. Jameson, of the army; James McKee, of Vancouver, and Dr. Kluckauf, of Victoria.

D.O.K.K. Temple Installs Officers

Tel El Mahuta Temple No. 155, Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorassan, held its annual installation of officers and banquet at K. of P. Hall on Saturday. The D.O.K.K., known as "the Dokies," is a branch of the K. of P.

Officers installed were R. G. Topliss, royal vizier; J. A. Stone, sheik; H. D. G. Roberts, secretary; E. J. Erb, satrap; N. Stewardson, grand emir; W. Robertson, mahedi; A. De Girolamo, treasurer; A. Lorandini, sahib.

J. J. Stewart, royal potentate, was the installing officer. Two minutes' silence was observed at the start of the evening for the late John N. Evans, Duncan, past provincial grand chancellor, who died on Saturday.

The newly installed royal vizier was chairman, and welcomed from Vancouver Bob Townsley, who helped to institute the temple 31 years ago. Toasts were made to "The King," "The Imperial Palace" and "The 1943 Tyros."

Bert Applegate was M.C. of a musical entertainment, including songs by himself, community singing, violin solos by Bert White, and accordion numbers by Mr. De Griolamo. Accompanist for the singing was Sgt. Paul Michelin. Seventy-five members were present. W. C. Carter and his assistants served a turkey dinner.

Suggests Mobile Farm Workshop

A mobile workshop similar to those now used in the army, to serve farmers and fruit growers, is a postwar proposal of Major H. G. Filmer Morgan, M.B.E., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Morgan, 856 Wollaston Street, Esquimalt.

He is reported in The Red Patch, newspaper of the First Canadian Division in the Mediterranean theatre, as suggesting such a workshop should provide "quite a lucrative job as in most cases it is not the cost of repairs which causes the deterioration of farm machinery, but the fact that the machinery cannot be spared off the land.

"A suitable heavy truck, fitted out after the fashion of an 'M' lorry, with gas welding equipment installed, would save immense amounts of time while the farm equipment would be out of commission if awaiting repairs in town. We think that the Canadian farmer would welcome this sort of repair, and quite a 'trade route' could be built up. The space between farms and the general distance from settlements would be a large factor in favoring this idea."

Major Morgan enlisted with the permanent force at Signal Hill in 1933 and was studying at Woolwich, England, when war broke out, returning to Canada shortly after. He went back to England with the First Division, when he was commissioned, and later was placed in charge of the First Canadian Infantry Troop Workshop with the Eighth Army.

Previous to his enlistment in 1939 he was employed at the Victoria Brass & Iron Works as a machinist.

Council Tables Permit Request

Request of Joseph McKenna that Frank Pasacreta be granted a licence to operate a motor vehicle carrying passengers for hire, was tabled at yesterday's meeting of the City Council. McKenna's action followed a refusal by Chief of Police J. A. McLellan to grant a permit.

In a letter to the council the police chief stated that according to the records of his department, Frank Pasacreta had been convicted under Section 35 (1) of the Government Liquor Act on March 26, 1942, and fined $500. He gave this as his reason for refusing the application.

Making his appeal under Section 23 of the Motor Vehicle Act, Mr. McKenna said that Pasacreta had never been convicted under that section of the Liquor Act. He admitted that his client had been convicted of selling liquor, was fined and paid the penalty, but claimed that the chief had made a mistake in naming the section under which the prosecution was launched.

Stating that of two drivers who had been issued permits, one had been charged for selling liquor and another with selling drugs, McKenna said there should be no discrimination shown in the matter.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP).—Specialties remained in the buying foreground of today's stock market while many leaders continued to retreat moderately.

Fractional variations either way were the rule from the start but scattered climbers closed up 1 to 3 points, a number registering new 1943-44 peaks. Dealings were relatively slow throughout.

Individual props, mainly earnings prospects, served as the principal bidding inspiration. Customers who stood aside or trimmed accounts were motivated largely by the desire to await the message to Congress tomorrow and the President's evening broadcast. Tax clouds and labor disputes still were obstacles in the way of an all-out advance.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .1 of a point at 50.4. Of 846 issues appearing, 305 were down, 301 up and 240 unchanged. Transfers totaled 722,170 shares, compared with 833,180 last Friday.

Among stocks posting new highs for the move were Farnsworth Television, Engineers Public Service, Delaware & Hudson, South Porto Rico Sugar, American Bosch and Philco.

Wheat Conference

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP).—Canadian Wheat Board members, headed by George McIvor, of Winnipeg, their chairman, today conferred with Trade Minister MacKinnon at what officials termed a "regular meeting."

It was understood storage charges for grain in western county elevators were among the subjects discussed. The board has favored reduction of the charge from 1-50th of a cent a bushel a day to 1-60th, but this rate has not met with unanimous approval among elevator companies.
